Day of decision is Monday City primary, millage are on ballot

Romulus voters will go to the polls on Monday to answer the 7½-mill request by the School District.

The millage request is in the form of two proposals: one asks 6 mills for four years for general operation; the other asks for 1½ mills for four years for maintenance.

This is the 7th millage election since November, 1981 when a $3 million issue to retire an operational debt was passed by a 60-40 margin.

In the other six elections, a millage renewal for 8½ mills was passed in September, 1982 and five other requests went down to defeat.

In the last three millage elections, the danger of asbestos provided some emotion in the campaigns, but to no avail.

But this millage is conventional in approach, School Supt. William Bedell and the School Board asking for money primarily to provide increments to the employees and restore some money to teachers' salaries.

The restoration of programs previously slashed would be another goal, including the re-establishment of the 6-hour school day. The expansion of the elementary curriculum and the restoration of the junior high athletic or/activity program would be other considerations.

20 candidates vie for jobs

No primary for mayor, city clerk positions

A field of 20 candidates is on the primary ballot in next Monday's election in Romulus.

Four candidates are vying for the two-slot competition for treasurer in the November election, and 16 are competing in an elimination which will reduce the prospects to 14 for the seven-seat council election in the Fall.

The election is non-partisan and will take place on the same day as the school millage.

There is no incumbent in the primary for treasurer. Beverly McAnally, the current treasurer, is making a bid for the office of mayor in the November election against Mayor William Oakley.

John B. Lewkowicz, currently a councilman, has served two terms as treasurer from 1973 to 1977 and is making another bid for the position.

Lnnng Coleman and Gerry Canejo, also candidates, have served on the council in the past for one and three terms respectively.

Rita McLenon, an 18-year employee in Romulus government completes the four-person competition.

The two highest vote-getters will face off in the November election.

The council election pits 16 candidates, with the intention of eliminating the two lowest vote-getters. The remaining 14 will vie in November for the 7 council seats, awarded to the 7 top vote-getters.

Six of the council candidates are incumbents. They are Mary Ann Banks, Barry Baumann, Noah Bergeron, Jr., Fred Junior Block, Alan Lambert, and Jimmie Raspberry.

Baumann, Bergeron, and Lambert are completing their first terms as councilmen.

Banks, Block, and Raspberry have served 3, 7 and 6 terms respectively.

All positions are for 2-year terms.

Of the 10 other council candidates, Ellis Pennington and Richard Yeramian have each served one term previously on the city council, Pennington from 1970 to 1973, and Yeramian from 1979 to 1981.

The other candidates are Roger Cadaret, Justin Genson, Sr., Theodore Jacques, John Lewis, Kathleen McCallum, Edward Thomas, Jr., William Wadsworth, and Fred Williams.

4 bid for city treasurer's seat

Lnnng Coleman, a child care service administrator as Director of the Romulus Child Care Center, Inc., served as a city councilman from 1974 to 1976.

Coleman, 41, is single and has resided in Romulus for 30 years.

He graduated from Romulus High School in 1959, and Ferris State College in 1963. He has a B.A. from the University of Detroit and an M.A.T. from Oakland University. He was a teaching fellow at Madonna College where he received a degree and was an educator in Inkster schools.

Coleman has been former president of the Kiwanis Club and past treasurer of the Family Neighborhood Services. He was also city representative of the Compensatory Education to Romulus Schools.

The major issue, Coleman says "is that 'a house divided cannot stand.' The house is the city and public officials have to work together as in a marriage."

Coleman resides at 6014 Colorado.

• Gerry Canejo, a contractor of Canejo Trucking, Inc., is making his first bid for the position of treasurer. He has served on the city council for three terms: 1975-77, 1977-79, and 1979-81.

Canejo is 53. He and his wife Mary are the parents of six children, and have resided in Romulus 31 years. Prior to that he lived in Rowley, Mass.

He graduated from Ipswich High School, Ipswich, Mass., and Lawrence Institute of Technology with a degree in mechanical engineering.

Canejo has served on the Romulus Community School Board and is a member of Kiwanis, holding positions of treasurer, vice president, president and trustee.

He resides at 16373 Dodge.

John B. Lewkowicz, owner of Landis Machine Shop, treasurer of the City of Romulus from 1973 to 1977 and current member of the council, is seeking the Treasurer's office for the third time.

Lewkowicz is 65. He and his wife Pauline are the parents of eight children, and have lived in Romulus for 20 years. Prior to that he lived in Hamtramck for 17 years.

He graduated from Southwestern High School, and the Detroit Institute of Technology (tool design). He attended Michigan State University, University of Michigan, and Ferris College regarding education background relating to the Treasurer's position.

Lewkowicz is a member of Kiwanis Club of Romulus; member and usher of St. Aloysius Church; Knights of Columbus; Notre Dame Council #3021; Romulus VFW Post 9568; and former scout master of the Boy Scouts of America, 10 years.

He served in the 765th Field Artillery Battalion 5th Army, 1943-46.

Lewkowicz cites as major issues "the planned progress, economic development, reduction in taxes, job programs, and the protection of equity of Romulus citizens."

He resides at 36723 Grant Road.

Rita McLenon, an employee for 18 years for the city and currently a loans and grant specialist in the Community Development Rehabilitation Program, is making her first bid for public office.

She is 39. She and her husband Norman are the parents of two children and have lived in Romulus for 34 years.

McLenon is a graduate of Romulus High School, 1962, and is a member of the Professional Business Women's Association.

She has held positions as office clerk to the Water Department, secretary to the building inspector, secretary to the industrial coordinator, secretary to the police chief, secretary to the city council, and served as deputy treasurer.

McLenon cites as major issues in this campaign: "assuring maximum return on investments, proper recording of incoming cash, accurate and timely disbursements, and work for unity in city government."

She resides at 10080 Miriam.

Test drillings checked at site

By JERRY DESHARNAIS
(Special ANP Writer)

Thomas Handyside, vice president of Environmental Management Systems (EMS) toxic waste land developers, was at the Will Carleton site Thursday for verification of previous drillings.

Handyside, wearing a red construction hat, supervised as one man operated a construction machine which scooped the earth, and another man videotaped the entire operation.

Three members of the anti-landfill activist group, the Huron Valley Citizens Association, arrived at the scene around 11 a.m.

Janet Kidd, vice president of the group, asked Handyside the purpose of the digging and he replied that he wanted to see what the soil looked like.

The first drillings at the site had been done in late April.

Nora Adkins, a trustee of the group, later arrived at the site and peppered Handyside with questions until Handyside reportedly retorted that should the "intimidation" not cease he would call the police.

The matter quieted down and the work continued until about 1 p.m.

EMS has options on 290 acres of land at the corner of Will Carleton and I-275 for a toxic waste landfill.

About 30 residents reside in close proximity of the site.

Handyside has sent two letters to Huron Township Supervisor A.J. Haener indicating the intent of his organization to file for an application for a permit from the Department of Natural Resources (DNR).

Landfill at Will Carleton?

A toxic waste land developer ordered preliminary drilling at the Will Carleton site, despite objections of residents.

One 'rather' solid way to lose weight

By JERRY DESHARNAIS
Special ANP Writer

Are you looking for a sure-proof way to lose weight?

There is a way. But this applies to those readers who have a real weight problem and just can't seem to win in the battle against overweight.

John Brimble, a Romulus resident and owner of Capt. Nemo's Restaurant, had the problem and decided to do something about it. He was successful. And he tells how he did it:

I weighed 366 pounds and I'm 6-foot even. I'm 40.

Over the last 10 years I carried that weight around. I went from 300 to 320 in the last five years I've been married and I put on the rest.

I've always been heavy. When I was young in school, in England, I was active as well as playing sports and I could carry the weight, so to speak. I weighed about 250. But I started putting on weight in my thirties.

Last Christmas, I went shopping in the Big Man's shop and I realized, if you'll pardon the expression, that I was on the last peg in the store.

And I began to realize, boy, I've got to start doing something. I decided I would try to get my weight off before I was 40 years of age. That gave me six months from the time I decided, from the Christmas of '82. My birthday is Memorial Day at the end of May.

"I went shopping in the Big Man's shop and I realized that I was on the last peg in the store."

I had already heard of Duke University in Durham, North Carolina and the great success they had in their diet programs.

They have two or three different programs: one for older people with heart conditions; one for people who have diabetes; and one for people who are fairly active and are just a little overweight, about 40 or 50 pounds — this group has caledsthetics and a rigid exercise program.

The program that I was on was called Dr. Kempler's Rice Diet. He is 80-years-old and has been doing this for 50 years.

There isn't anything he doesn't know about losing weight. He's seen it all. He's heard it all. There isn't nothing you can tell him that he hasn't heard. You're just like talking to a brick wall when you try to come up with any excuse for why you are overweight.

You can blame it on your parents. You can blame it on the way you were raised, you can blame it on your work environment. No matter what it is, he'll just smile at you, because there is for him only one answer — when you get on the scale every day: are you lighter than you were the day before?

There are lots of different programs that provide different psychological evaluations. His psychological evaluation is — you come in every morning and you get on the scale. If you're not lighter than you were the day before, you hear hell from him and all of his aides because they have a rigidly set diet program for you and exercise program which isn't strenuous, basically walking and swimming.

Most people on the rice diet are obese. That is, more than 60 pounds overweight. Many people in my program are in the 300- to 400-pound range. And a lot of them go home at 160 pounds.

I saw while I was there a man who came in at 460 pounds and was down to 165. And going down.

But this takes a long time and a firm commitment by yourself and your family to tackle the problem. It's not just like a case of light-hearted diet which is not taken seriously.

If you break your neck, they'll put a splint on you and keep you immobile for months and months until they have cured the problem because it's life-threatening.

But a person who is 400 pounds, people don't think of that as being life-threatening to that person. But it is just as life-threatening as if they had some crippling disease, like diphtheria. They take it very, very seriously and they ask for a commitment from you — some people are down there for 6 to 8 months and some are even down there for a year.

You have to decide that there is something wrong with you, that you are sick, that you have a compulsive eating problem.

This concerns people really who have eating disorders, not only compulsion. Some people eat only one thing. Some just eat crackers or something like that, and have got into real bizarre eating habits, no eating anything nutritious.

These were not necessarily poor people by any means, some were very wealthy. They had gotten into extremely bad habits.

While I was there the cross-section was very interesting: there was Angelo Fields who is a professional football player for the Green Bay Packers, told if he didn't get 40 to 60 pounds off by the start of this season he was going to be benched. He really worked hard.

Dusty Hill, the bass and lead singer of the rock group Zee Zee Top was also there. So was a soap opera star, about 27 or 28 years old; she was about 40 pounds overweight.

They were examples of the lighter ones. But on the other side of the coin, there was one man down there who was 560 pounds. They almost had to winch him out of his car.

Dr. Kempler sets your ideal weight, which is very light, and that is the goal. He rates your success by that.

"But it is just as life threatening as if they had some crippling disease, like diphtheria."

He set my ideal weight at 165 pounds. You can imagine that when I was there at 366... I had to give up 200 pounds.

But that would have taken me twice as long as I was down there.

The first weight comes off quick. I lost about 126 pounds in 135 days. I was 240 when I came home. But I really needed to get down at least another 80 pounds to satisfy him, so in other words I was not one of his success stories. He only rates success stories of people who get completely thin.

I consider I did really well at losing 126 pounds but I still have 40 pounds to go to get down to 200.

Some ladies I saw there made absolute transformations. For some ladies, 40 or 50 pounds makes a complete difference to them. Some ladies are at 200 and they lose 60 pounds. At 200 she is really overweight looking. A man doesn't show it as much.

But when the women get down to about 140 pounds they really begin to look good and feel good and you see the transformation in their thinking.

Most people who are overweight have very little value personally of themselves. You carry a very low esteem of yourself. You may not think so on the outside but in your subconscious you do. You know that other people look at you and go "Aaagh", you know, not to your face, but they do and you know that, in your subconscious. Because someone will say, "Oh, look at that slob" and they'll say "Oh, sorry" next to you.

But when you are down there and you start to see the weight coming off and you start to see that you can go out there in a lighter category, your self-confidence begins, and you become a changed personality.

Your family comes down and visits and are just amazed to see you. Some haven't seen their families for 4 or 5 months, and they're seen 100 pounds lighter.

Their families can't believe they're talking to the same person.

The kids are fidgety and self-conscious because of the change in their parent.

People wonder how it's set up. It's almost like Alcoholics Anonymous. You work a lot with peer pressure. You work in groups. You do things together. Your activities are together. You work with the same common interest, just like an alcoholic doesn't want to be a drinker again a person down there doesn't want to become a compulsive eater again. You talk together and give each other self-confidence and when someone leaves, you have a farewell party for them.

It's really touching when someone goes home. They break down and cry and are very emotional because you're with these people for some time.

I was there for five months. Some were there for a year.

You live in your own room, a rooming house perhaps. People on a tight budget like me take a room in a house exclusively for dieters near the campus.

The main house, The Rice House, was where we ate. We only ate rice and fruit, basically.

The first few weeks down there is when the torment comes because you are on a rigid diet. For me personally, I had been drinking 12 to 15 cups of coffee a day before I went down there and I was socially drinking. Whenever I went out I would have 6, 7, or 8 drinks. I rarely drank at home.

Of course down there, there was no drinking, no coffee. Straightaway I got caffeine withdrawal the first couple of weeks — sweating, heaving, just like I got the flu.

Of course, being away from food, your family, and your work, it is a complete, strange environment at first. But they make you very welcome.

It's just like going into the army. When you first go there you wonder if you will ever see the end of the tunnel. But you make your way through.

I never thought I would ever find the time to go to Duke for the program. It got to the point where I had to. My dieting on my own was unsuccessful. I would lose about 30 pounds and then put it back on.

The program costs quite a bit of money. Some people with cardiac or diabetic problems might be covered by their insurance.

In my case I was fairly healthy and I had to pay this by myself.

Down there you see the doctor every day and so that costs about $125-150 per week. Your accommodations depend on what you want — that could range from anywhere around $200 a month to whatever. So it costs you pretty close to about $1000 a month.

But if you really want it and it's a life-threatening situation, you can do it. I saw people down there who sold their cars and their recreational vehicles and things like that to get there.

Three or four thousand dollars is not a lot of money if they tell you you are going to die in 4 or 5 years.

A lot of this diet is a success because you are away from your old environment. We have bad habits.

But down there you get on the scale every day and they can see if you're cheating.

You eat only 700 calories a day.

A typical menu is: for breakfast you have half a grapefruit, or a cup of black tea or juice. At lunch is a cup of rice and any two fruits. Dinner is exactly the same.

"It's just like going into the army... But you make your way through."

This is very mundane but after about two months they put you on vegetables like broccoli and baked potatoes as a substitute for fruit. But basically the diet is rice and fruit.

There is no minimal stay. If you want to stay only two months you can. They'll reinforce you and maybe you can return next year. I intend to.

The actual Rice House is about two miles from Duke campus. I did a lot of walking and swimming, walking even about 8 to 10 miles a day.

We could go to movies and shopping malls. We had a lot of time to read and think about our lives and how we got into this situation.

I got some very close friends down there, almost like brothers and sisters.

My advice to anybody who wants it is to go for it.

My wife and I didn't take a vacation the year before and we didn't buy a new car, our car presently is 6 years old, which is how we saved for this.

If it hadn't been for my wife Martha, taking over the management of the business, and the managers of my stores, I couldn't have done it. They kept the business afloat.

I really recommend the program. If anyone is really interested, they should call Duke University in Durham, North Carolina and ask for Dr. Kempler's Rice Diet at the Medical Center.

Schools announce free milk criteria

Van Buren Public Schools announced this week its policy for free meals and free milk or reduced-price meals, for children unable to pay the full price of meals and milk served under the National School Lunch, School Breakfast, Special Milk Program, and U.S.D.A. Donated Foods Programs.

Local school officials have adopted the following family size and income criteria for determining eligibility.

Children from families whose income is at or below the levels shown are eligible for (free meals or reduced-price meals).

Application forms are being sent to all homes in a letter to parent. Additional copies are available at the principal's office in each school. This information may be verified at any time during the school year. Applications may be submitted at any time during the year.

For the school officials to determine eligibility, the household must provide the following information listed on the application: Names of all household members; social security numbers of all adult household members or a statement that the household member does not possess one; total household income; and the signature of an adult household member certifying that the information provided is correct. Households are required to report increases in household income of over $50 per month or $600 per year and decreases in household size.

To discourage the possibility of misrepresentation, the application forms contain a statement (See MEALS, Page A-4)

A Message from McAnally

Dear Romulus Voters:

On Tuesday, September 12, when you cast your vote in the Primary Election, you will not find the position of Mayor on the ballot because there are only two candidates running.

My name and that of my opponent will only appear on the November General Election ballot. However, the race for mayor will be very much on the minds of all of us who care about Romulus.

As we go into the General Election process I will be campaigning hard, fighting for the things I stand for and believe possible for our city and its people.

During the ten years that I have served as your Mayor Pro-Tem, City Council Person and Treasurer, I have worked hard to improve procedures and methods for more efficient government.

My progressive methods in the Treasurer's Office have enabled the City to realize more than three million dollars in interest revenue from careful and timely investments. That extra money made possible a reduction in taxes and provided funds to establish our police department.

I have also worked to improve the image of Romulus cooperating with the incumbent and other city officials in all the ways available to me. I have never given less than my best to any job assigned to me.

Now, as the mayoral campaign gets underway, I will be dealing with the important issues of economic stagnation, unemployment and political mudslinging, character assassination and unethical tactics. Neither will I permit my supporters to do so. I will stand on my record of many years of public service and thereby ask for your support on November 8th.

If you wish to make comment or to discuss the issues with me, please contact me at my headquarters at 11101 Hunt Street, or call at 941-0030.

Sincerely,

Beverly McAnally

TRUTH prepares free food boxes

By JERRY DESHARNAIS
(Special ANP Writer)

It is 10 a.m.
Three ladies in slacks work rapidly, packing bags and boxes. "Better get some milk over there," one advises.
"We got to get some more boxes," says another.
"There is no more chicken. It's all over in the kitchen freezer," the third notes.
The perspiration comes down their foreheads. For a moment, enough bags and boxes are loaded with food for the first dozen of a line of about 10 people outside Renton Junior High.
It's a food line in Huron Township for people who are needy.

One pound of butter, one chicken, hot dogs, dozen of eggs, cornmeal, 5 pounds of cheese, loaf of bread, peaches and apples, 6 ears of corn, 6 canned goods, beans, rice, grits, macaroni and powdered milk.
That was the fare for Aug. 30. In a supermarket it would cost about $15.

A family of three gets one box and bag, and a family of four or more can get two or even three.
A family must show they are in need by talking to the distributors and bringing in proof of income, if any.

The food distribution is sponsored by TRUTH (The Regionally United Taxpayers of Huron), acting as distributors for Wayne-Metro Community Services.

The federal and state governments provide the food.

TRUTH has 26 Huron residents who work twice a week, Tuesdays and Thursdays, starting at 10 a.m. at Renton Junior High.

Some of the workers also help at the newly-opened soup kitchen on Beverly Road at Beverly School in Romulus operating from 12 to 3 p.m. on Monday, Wednesdays and Fridays.

Helen Harby, a housewife in Huron, heard about the cheese distribution in 1981 while attending a meeting of the John Boltz Women's Relief Corps 273 in Taylor.

Helen went to a meeting in Inkster later and followed through with the Huron organization.

"In other words, we just went after it," she said. "It sounded like a good thing."

It's two years later and the "good thing" gives a supply of food to about 200 families a week.

A file card is maintained on everyone who receives food and every week tips are received on people who may also be needy. Helen Harby gives out her phone number in case they are interested.

"I've got very good workers," she beams. "Some of these people are unemployed themselves, or are retirees or possibly on medical disability. They are all volunteers."

"We are people helping people," she sums up. "If anyone wants help, just call."

Helen Harby's number is 753-3189. Or a call may be made to Wayne-Metro Community Services at 782-7510.

2 Romulus seniors win health meet

By JERRY DESHARNAIS
(Special ANP Writer)

Two Romulus High School seniors won the top prize in a 28-state national first aid competition in San Antonio, Texas.

Terry David and Terri Coatsworth, both women students in the Romulus High health-occupation program, competed in local, regional, and state competitions to qualify for the national competition.

In the final event, they were required to work as a two-person team, entering a room and finding one non-breathing "victim" and another bleeding severely through an artery.

The goal of the team was to first take care of the bleeding and breathing and then bring in emergency medical help.

David and Coatsworth beat out all competitors which included 3 teams from the 28 states.

The team's expenses were co-sponsored by the Board of Education and fund-raising activities of HOSA, a Health Organization of America group which sponsors the national competition.

Ten students in all made up the Romulus team.

Bob Brock, instructor in health occupation at Romulus High, led the team.

above the space for signature certifying that all information furnished in the application is true and correct. An additional statement is added to warn that the application is being made in connection with the receipt of Federal funds, that school officials may verify the information in the application, and that deliberate misrepresentation of information may subject the applicant to prosecution under applicable State and criminal statutes.

In most cases, foster children are also eligible for these benefits. If a family has foster children living with them and wishes to apply for such meals for them, it should contact the school.

Children of unemployed parents may qualify for free or reduced price meals if total family income including welfare payments, unemployment compensation and sub-pay benefits fall within the prescribed family income guidelines.

Under the provisions of the policy David L. Baronian, Food Service Supervisor, will review applications and determine eligibility. If a parent is dissatisfied with the ruling of the official, he or she may make a request either orally or in writing to Jack Hosmer, Director of Business, 555 W. Columbia, Belleville, for a hearing to appeal the decision. The policy contains an Outline of the hearing procedure.

In the operation of child feeding programs, no child will be discriminated against because of race, sex, color, national origin, age, or handicap.

If any member of a household believes he/she has been discriminated against, he/she should write immediately to the Secretary of Agriculture, Washington, D.C., 20250.

Teacher acquitted of all sex charges

Dan Henry of Wayne will resume his teaching duties in the Wayne-Westland school system next Tuesday following his acquittal of criminal sexual conduct charges involving a 14-year-old female student.

Henry, who serves as varsity boys' basketball coach at Westland John Glenn High School and instructor at Stevenson Junior High, was reinstated in his teacher's post this week. Assistant Superintendent William Taylor reported Tuesday, Henry, 30, had been suspended with pay since April 19 pending results of charges that he and a student at Stevenson Junior High allegedly had engaged in sexual activities.

Those charges were dismissed last week as a Wayne County Circuit Court jury deliberated less than 15 minutes before issuing a not guilty verdict on three counts of third-degree criminal sexual conduct filed against Henry.

"He (Henry) is relieved that it's over," said Attorney Richard Clark of Wayne, who represented Henry during the four day trial. "It's unfortunate that it began."

Clark said he found "numerous discrepancies" in the student's testimony in which she claimed that Henry, her gym instructor, had invited her to his home on March 17 and suggested they engage in sexual activities.

Henry acknowledged that she had arrived at his home

DAN HENRY uninvited but had stayed only three or four minutes. She had testified to having spent an hour at Henry's house.

"Fortunately it was St. Patrick's Day and a number of people had seen him at that time," Clark said. Those testifying to having seen Henry during the time were Cheryl Henry, his wife; Cheryl Titensor, his ex-wife, and Curtis Cuddenback, a friend.

St. Aloysius has super polka fest

By JERRY DESHARNAIS
(Special ANP Writer)

I've got a story, a cute little story on how we should start every day.

Here is my answer, my own little answer, these are the words I say:

Just say Dzień Dobry. Hej Dzień Dobry in Polish, which means have a good day. Just say Dzień Dobry, Hej Dzień Dobry, a good day in every way.

That Polish ditty sums up last Sunday at the St. Aloysius Polka Fest 1983, one of four days of sun, people walking under thin clouds melted across skies.

the nation has been blessed this summer. Teh sun has beaten down on one and all, and on St. Aloysius which celebrates its 31st year this year, a predominantly Polish parish in Romulus.

The sun whirls like a roulette wheel and if festival organizers are lucky, it stops straight up overhead the big tent where gamblers sit 150 at a time.

One player at the St. Aloysius blackjack table was doubly lucky this festival. At his shoulder was a woman in a tight zebra blouse and tighter shorts, a creation of God more beautiful than the sky.

Meanwhile, Noah Bergeron, manager of the tent this year, is confident that a new high will be made in profits this festival. Friday night $1700 was netted, Saturday $5700, and $10,000 was expected Sunday, the biggest night. In all, he predicted a $20,000 profit.

On the polka floor nearby, a woman in a pretty blue dress spins in her dance with a man, the wide shoulder straps and white blouse remain unruffled, and the bottom of her dress puffs up like a mushroom and her lovely bare legs turn to the polka.

The heavy beat of Big Daddy Lackowski and his Orchestra provides the Sunday afternoon entertainment, all Polish music, primarily pokas, all absolutely happy.

Couples move around the floor to the music, automatic toetappers which want you to jump up and jump around and up and down like a bunny and fall absolutely in love and dance down the street and on top of buildings.

Well, perhaps not quite that. But Big Daddy Lackowski apparently had that happen to him. He was a seminarian for seven years at one time studying to be a priest. But he followed another calling.

His wife now plays the drums. They have five children and are expecting their sixth in March. Occasionally his 11-year-old daughter Jodi fills in for her mother. Jodi's grandma Luba stands off to the side.

The gambling, the beer, and the music, that is what makes a good festival. If it's a Polish festival, add a touch of polka and kielbasa.

At St. Aloysius, a big draw is the $10,000 raffle at $10 a throw. As of 5 p.m. Sunday night, $18,930 in ticket sales were made.

Tony Tarkowski, 34, chairman of the festival, sat on the hood of his car, pleased with the turnout and the sunshine.

Last year the weather was bad. The gross was a little over $100,000, about $45,000 clear.

This year he estimates more. With weather like this you can't lose.

But you have to work at it. Tony started in January, putting in about 8-10 hours of work per month but as he got down near the wire, the last month, he guesses he put in about 200-300 hours.

Tony admits the toughest thing is getting the workers for the festival. It takes about 80 workers at any given moment.

One of the workers was Kenneth Kezeli, from Newport, an auctioneer.

One of the many items donated for action from the business community was a dinner for four at Daly's Restaurant in Romulus.

Kizeli starts his machine gun: "Alright, at the four dinners at Daly's, who'll give me $10. 7½. Never thought of that. He's trying to get by cheap. $5 now 7½. 7½ willya bid 'em at 7½. Will ya go 7½. $10 willya go 12½. $15. Sorry ma'am. $13 to ya ma'am. Well I dropped a half a dollar. See how I am? I dropped a half a dollar and you slapped me like that.

13½? 13½? $14 willya bid 'em at 14? (A small one-seater plane goes roaring overhead, just above the treetop near the auctioneer.) Look at that fool. Hay, shoot that guy, right? Willya bid 'em at $14. $15 willya bid 'em at $15. Willya bid 'em at $16. 16. Willya bid 'em at $16½? $17? $18. 18. $18. Last time. Sold his way at $17½."

Only professional auction watchers would know how well Kizeli did on that one. Was the plane a factor? How could he machine gun all those bidders and yet have time to reel up toward the sky and machine gun that plane?

Nevertheless, his gun was smokin.

In the kitchen about 100 yards away, Josephine Molenda, chief cook of the chicken dinner and spaghetti brigade, is cleaning a pot.

Josephine is an elderly woman and no fast talker. She sells chicken. What you pay you get. She estimates that maybe chicken dinner sales are slow this year.

"We have a lot of chicken left over for Monday," she sums up the day. "Maybe they eat less."

She guesses about 1200 chicken dinners will be served. But Josephine Molenda is no auctioneer, just a cook and a parishioner of Father Walter Lezuchowski, pastor for 4 years of St. Aloysius.

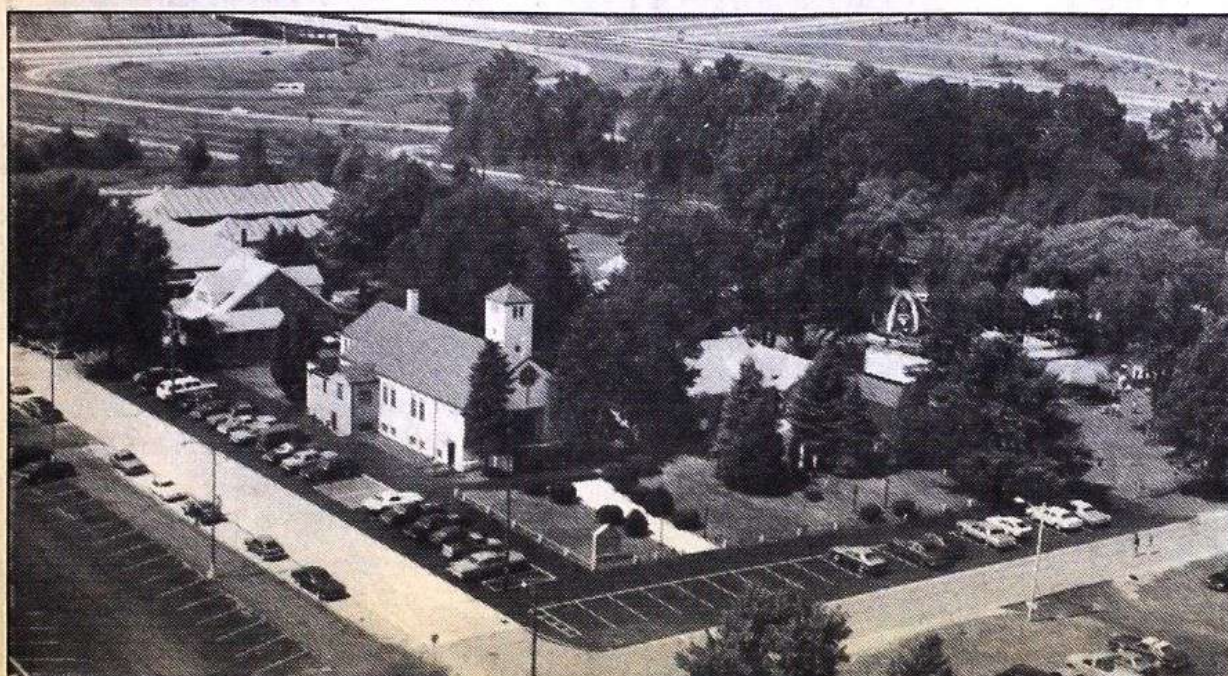

the best festival ever," he sums up. "As far as the people the weather, and also the money."

Father analyzed that more cooperation from the people in the parish made the difference. That was the only change that was made.

"Ours is a small parish," he said. "Only 700 families. But we try to get the people to help."

And they did, and everyday was Hej Dzień Dobry — a good day in every way.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

By John Brimble
Rice salad is a nice addition to a buffet spread and it's do-ahead easy. Mix in cored and chopped tomatoes, chopped onion, diced artichoke hearts, sliced olives, roasted red peppers and plenty of chopped parsley. Toss with garlicky herbed vinaigrette.

Half a cut lemon in the cooking water will keep cauliflower white (and control odor, too).

Don't let pastry dough get too hard before you roll it, or it will crack and split. Let rest at room temperature until softer.

Pie apples that hold their shape best are Pippin, Stayman, Golden Delicious, and Granny Smith. Popular Macintosh is better for applesauce.

Magic in a microwave: press graham cracker crumb mixture into paper cupcake liners and fill with cheesecake batter. Individual cheesecakes take only 2½ to 3½ minutes to cook!

our opinions

Primaries are key elections

In November, voters in Belleville, Romulus, Westland, Wayne and Inkster will be asked to decide who will sit on city council, become their mayors, city clerks and treasurers.

For many, the selection will take place just a few minutes before going into the voting booth. It is the voter's prerogative — thank God — to vote the way he or she wishes; and to make that decision whenever or however he or she wishes.

But, for many the decision who will serve their city begins Monday and Tuesday during the city primaries. Romulus, Westland and Inkster are holding such elections to narrow the field of candidates for the General Election.

We ask those who will cast their ballots to take time and study what each and every candidate has to say; we provide voters with biographical sketches of these hopefuls who wish to be returned to or are seeking elective office. And, as usual and by tradition, the Associated Newspapers will not endorse the candidates during the primaries but will do so in the General Election.

The criteria we hope voters will use to make their selection are: candidates' qualifications for office; experience, education and the candidate's strong commitment to community and citizens. Unfortunately, too often elections are "popularity contests" which wind up with all those concerned coming out "losers".

It's also a lot easier for many voters to "forget" or stay at home during an election. One only has to recall the 11 percent to 19 percent voter turnouts for such elections to acknowledge that primaries usually are not one of the more popular elections.

There certainly is, however, a lot of interest shown in pre-primary election rhetoric in Westland, Inkster and Romulus where key offices will be decided in November.

Increasing one's knowledge now about candidates will inevitably help in the selection.

Candidates also need help and encouragement to run for office. Once you decide upon your choice for city office, why not roll up your sleeves or dig into your pockets and help out?

A good candidate translates into good government and, in the long run, may even lead to fiscal responsibility.

Schools are in dire need of a victory

On Monday, voters in the Romulus Community School District will again be asked to increase their school taxes, despite voter rejection of similar requests in the past.

This time around the voters have a 7.5 mill package awaiting them.

It is popular to turn these requests down. Most argue that "unemployment" and "lack of money" are reasons why they vote against tax proposals, after all, school taxes are the only ones they can express their sentiments on.

And, again there appears little hope for passage.

But, before you pull the "no" lever, consider the children and the schools. They have suffered enough. Cutbacks in almost every area have been incurred by them and we are, the experts say, creating a monster in the form of illiterates who may eventually haunt us.

Consider this:

The state's economic climate has improved and there is more optimism now in our schools than in recent months and years. We believe that the small investments the schools are asking its voters to make will pay dividends in the long run for all. Education is definitely the key to a better and more successful life.

Few will disagree that the one who has a high school and college diploma has a better chance to make it in life than a "dropout."

The message is simple: We pay now or pay later. A child without an education today is the adult who either winds up in trouble or becomes a "ward of the state".

Lack of funds is costing schools and society. The time has come to reverse that trend. And Romulus voters on Monday must show the way.

editorial feedback

Wayne County and COLA

I wonder why you, the news media, continue to label your reports as opinions and editorials. According to Webster, the meaning of opinion is "a conclusion or judgment held with confidence, but falling short of positive knowledge" and editorials are the "opinions of the editors or publishers."

Because of your individualistic opinionated views, you have caused judgment to be passed on me, along with other members of AFSCME. You have also managed to portray us as individuals whose only aim in life is to cause the bankruptcy of the County of Wayne without having "positive knowledge" of us.

One Free Press editorial even went so far as to say that "at the present rate of attrition, soon only a handful of county workers will be earning a million bucks a year."

It is the belief of the AFSCME membership that this statement has no practical significance — if the County of Wayne is bankrupt, where will the million bucks come from to pay even one county worker?

We would like to pose this question — if closing Wayne County General Hospital will save the county thirteen million dollars and if AFSCME members make concessions of eighteen million dollars, who will pay the remainder of the county's 140 million dollar deficit?

Somewhere along the way, you have lost sight of the fact that COLA was paid to every county worker, when it was clearly stated that no employee who did not have a contract would receive COLA, except those workers covered by AFSCME and the fact that the deputies' contract was negotiated before AFSCME and they were not asked to make concessions.

Also left by the wayside is the fact that AFSCME members were granted an extension of their old contract on a day to day basis with no exclusions.

It was only when the members failed to ratify the April 18th agreement (at their ratification meeting in May) that the day to day agreement, along with COLA was cancelled and this time COLA was clearly spelled out as being cancelled also.

The COLA payment made to other county workers covered the period from 12-1-82 thru 3-6-83 and it is during this period of time that we were still covered.

So what happened, even those employees who did not have a contract received COLA.

If it is the consensus of the populace that AFSCME members are not entitled to COLA, why would anyone threaten us by withholding something that did not belong to us in the first place.

While we are very pleased to note that the news media recognizes that the health care Wayne County General Hospital provides is important, we do wonder whether the plan to close the hospital is because of the "salaries of the employees," or because the public who uses the facility "are too poor to pay." It would be more realistic if you look towards the rising medical insurance cost and inflation as being responsible for the exorbitant per-patient cost.

It is a very sick society we live in when no one recognizes the fact that equality is for everyone or when no one recognizes the need to continue the operations of Wayne County General Hospital.

A woman we shall not forget

Tom Mooradian
Managing Editor

She was an inspiration to her students and all of those who came in contact with her. Not one to complain about her illness or personal setbacks, Grace E. Mathews greeted each day with a song.

She loved music and devoted more than a half century to music and teaching others the beauty of music.

"Grace Mathews was blessed with an innate ability to teach," a friend said. "Children gravitated to her as they do to candy and adults respected her for the way she always had something nice to say."

At the age of 62, Grace Mathews passed away recently. Like she was in life, she left the scene silently and satisfied that she had left her mark on the world.

For twenty-eight years, she was a music teacher in the Romulus school system. For 28 years, she touched many hearts and hands. She then retired from the local school system (1976) and started a nursery school "Bayside Nursery" in Elk Rapids and with her exquisite talents, started anew to captivate the children and parents.

However, her tenure at Bayside abruptly ended with a stroke which occurred in 1978. She battled back and took up residency in Meadow Medical Care Facility in Bellaire, Michigan until she passed away on August 2.

GRACE MATHEWS

The elegant woman who always had a smile, never let her illness keep her from actively becoming involved in her community. She was a former member of St. John's Episcopal Church in Westland and organist and choir director at that church for 15 years before moving from the area. She also became the organist and a member of the St. Paul's Episcopal Church in Elk Rapids until her stroke forced her to retreat. But she always fought back.

Born in Romulus on November 18, 1920, she was the daughter of Hiram and Grace Mathews of Plymouth, who preceded her in death. Her survivors include a brother, Lynn Mathews of Plymouth, sisters Doris Schrock of Colorado Springs, Colorado and Mrs. Wallace Summers (Alitha) of Romulus.

The services were conducted at St. John's Episcopal Church in Westland with the Rev. Robert Schiesler officiating. Internment was in Michigan Memorial Park.

And one caller said to this columnist, "We felt that this wonderful woman should not pass from our ranks without some sort of thought for all she has done for others."

"She was a beautiful woman who touched all of our hearts," the caller added. "It's frustrating to see you newspaper people play up crime — here was one person who loved life and people and my life personally was enriched by her presence."

And I only hope this column will keep her memory and her work alive.

As long as her name is on our lips -- death has not taken her away. --

Putting trust in a friend

EDITOR — I am addressing this letter to the youth, dressed in red, who temporarily befriended my 12-year-old son near the gas station at the corner of Inkster and Ford Road. My son had been sent on an errand to purchase a gallon of milk last Monday morning, Aug. 29, when you, sir, initiated a friendly conversation with him.

As he left the station, you walked and accompanied him south down Inkster Road as he slowly coasted on his blue dirt bike (which, by the way, he had purchased with his own money that he had earned honestly).

Because of his young years and his lack of experience, he accepted your friendship and talked with you for several blocks as you both proceeded down the street. He should have been able to anticipate your intent when you asked him to sell his watch to you — but being a trusting child, he continued his conversation with you.

However, the trust in other people, regardless of race, that we have instilled in him from an early age, was shattered when you pulled out a weapon, threatened him with it and then took off on his bicycle.

He came home in tears but, as the day wore on, the intensity of the traumatic incident began to dissipate. However, in the early evening, he came to me with uncontrollable sobs and as I tried to comfort him, he blurted, "Mom, I'm not so much upset over my bike being stolen. I feel so sorry for the boy who took it away from me. He needs so much help!"

You see, sir, he is also a very sensitive and forgiving child. In spite of the fact that you were able to overtake him physically and take away his possessions, you were not successful in taking away the love and trust that he continues to have for his fellow man.

If you are apprehended, I will take you to court — however, I would hope that the judge's sentence would demand that you receive intensive counseling and therapy that will help you to become a much better example of a human being than you demonstrated last Monday — to learn to give, not take; to help, not threaten; to trust, not cheat; to love, not hate!!!

Creating jobs for our society

EDITOR — Workfare is one of the best ideas that has come up in the last few decades. Let's support it. Let's encourage further study and development of the idea. But let's be resourceful, realistic and practical.

As these jobs are generated here are some of my observations of the types of jobs needed that could be covered in this program:

A. Child Care — Good, responsive, creative and nurturing child care.

B. Food Service — Creative, nutritious, and gourmet type for the indigent (whether sick or old), also for the children in child care centers and the other workers on workfare.

C. Health Care Services — to maintain good in the home care, may be just someone to visit or do complete health care for the aged or sick.

D. School Aid — More adults — men and women — in the schools to help the children and let's not forget the school buses to have adult supervision.

E. Recreation — need to help with organized sports and supervision and maintenance.

F. Home Repair — Single repairs, cleaning, paint, wall cleaning, window cleaning, grass cutting, leaf raking, snow shoveling, etc., particularly for the sick and elderly.

G. City and State Property Maintenance — grass cutting, snow shoveling, etc.

H. Transportation — for food stamps, welfare and unemployment checks, doctor appointments, shopping and church. Not only being paid to drive, but gas covered — not a percentage of mileage.

As jobs are generated more needs arise. It must be kept in mind, training, supervision, and quality of programs. These could be great programs or they could be theoretically great and flop like some of the Great Society Programs.

Canton concert was just great

EDITOR — On behalf of the Canton Parks and Recreation Department and the entire Canton Community, we would like to express our sincere thanks to the Canton Chamber of Commerce for their outstanding efforts in bringing the "Executives" Band to Canton for the Open Air Concert.

That concert was held Friday, August 5.

The Big Band Music was enjoyed by all ages along with the beautiful weather.

We hope to expand this outdoor concert series next summer with various types of music to help celebrate Canton's "Sesquicentennial".

The Chambers enthusiastic support of this concert helped make it a successful and enjoyable evening for everyone involved.

EDITOR — I read the "Open Letter to Citizens of Inkster" which appeared in The Ledger Star edition, submitted by a candidate for City Council in District Four.

As a taxpayer in the city of Inkster, I became concerned and decided to do some checking of my own.

The candidate states that the rate of Breakings and Enterings has increased tremendously, although he neglected to mention any time periods. For the purpose of comparison I requested B & E totals from January 1, 1982 to September 1, 1982 to see how they related to totals from January 1, 1983 until the present time.

I learned that home reported burglaries for 1983 are sufficiently reduced from those reported last year. This information became even more significant when I learned that citizens have been encouraged to report more B & Es and B & E Attempts through the formation of Neighborhood Crime Watch Clubs, than ever before.

The City Council has provided more sophisticated systems for recording and analyzing such offenses which has resulted in the increase of arrests and recovery of valuable property, to proportions never before experienced by former elected Administrations.

The candidate questions cut backs in the police department but offers no remedies for the serious economic depressions the Administration suffered. Members of the present Administration should be given standing ovations from every citizen of Inkster, for meeting the crisis head-on and discharging their obligations under extreme difficult circumstances.

Not only have they recognized the need for intervention but have openly displayed their concern through the formation of a Crime Prevention Unit with specific instructions to work exclusively with citizens of Inkster in a coordinated effort to reduce crime.

The candidate states that on several occasions, during times of emergency, citizens are placed on hold pending changes of shifts and completion of roll call. My investigation revealed that the on-duty police shift remains on duty until replaced by the oncoming shift, and that all emergencies receive immediate response. Of course, it is the obligation of the caller to let the person receiving the call know that it is an emergency.

During my visit to the Police Station, I was pleasantly surprised to hear the radio operator take the time to patiently explain to callers as to how soon they could expect response, even with the volume of calls he was receiving.

I also noted that emergency calls received immediate attention. One police official stated that callers, at times, are asked to be patient but only when the officer has determined that immediate response is unnecessary, depending on the nature of the call.

The candidate makes an issue of the Administration allowing a member of the Detective Bureau to train in the Virgin Islands for a 90 day period. When the state of economics forces personnel reductions, the most valuable resource left to a service oriented organization is advanced training.

Training usually bridges the gap between continued services and reduced services. It is the purpose of the present Administration to provide the very best training available to their workforce so that it can reflect in the very best services to its citizens.

I think it was an extreme honor for one of Inkster's Detectives to have been selected to serve in the Virgin Islands. The Police Department received a direct request from the Federal Director of the Drug Enforcement Bureau. Hundreds of candidates, nationwide, opted for the honor.

That the Inkster Officer was approached and selected is certainly complimentary to the City of Inkster and is reflective of the very high caliber of employees it has on the Roster. Training is on-going within the department. Almost always, at least one Detective is involved in some technical training program.

In order to loan this particular Detective to the Virgin Islands, the remaining Detectives agreed to forego all training until he returns. They promised no reduction in services and I believe that can be corroborated by reviewing their case loads, clearance reports, arrests and property recovery records.

The candidate alleges that narcotics has increased tremendously. Since he does not mention sales nor use, it is difficult to respond. I would challenge him to produce his statistics. He also questions Acting positions. Yet, I recall under his Administration, a person, designated to direct the Police Department, was titled "Lt. in charge of the Police Department" and was left acting for more than a year. The truth is, the Acting position is not new. It is an Administrative decision designed for evaluation purposes and does not have to be explained.

They have gone to arbitration and won the right to hire civilian dispatchers in order to free additional sworn officers for road duty. Through careful appointments of skilled police Administrators, they have significantly reduced complaints against the department over the last three years. They have provided training for their volunteers to such extent that the City of Inkster is recognized as having the very best Police Auxiliary and Police Chaplain's Corps in the State of Michigan. The Council demands police response to some calls in Inkster that are often ignored in neighboring jurisdictions, especially in Detroit.

If the candidate for City Council in district Four was not so very busy being evicted from his many residences and having his property set out on the street by frustrated landlords in losing efforts to receive their rents, he would have time to accurately assess the real facts and save himself the embarrassment of false allegations. In fact, I am personally concerned in regards to his latest address change in order to run for office and question the legal authenticity of his candidacy.

Senior softball league is great

EDITOR — The Canton Seniors softball team finished in second place with 4 wins and 2 losses behind Allen Park in the first ever oldest league in our area. I'd like to take this opportunity to congratulate, not only the Canton Sluggers but the Garden City and Allen Park teams as well, for a great season.

I also can't forget to thank Superbowl for their sponsorship. They sure made us look sharp on the field. Next year we'll bring home a first place trophy to display there!

reflections

Some facts of life

The other morning while I was whipping up a breakfast for eight people, even though I knew there would only be the two of us eating, the father of the kids who have moved away, came into the room and said:

"Don't burn the bacon."
"I don't have the bacon on," I told him.

"Well, when you put it on, don't burn it."

Standing there fidgeting with his necktie and talking about burning bacon that wasn't even cooking, the father of my children was telling me that something was on his mind. Only he didn't know he was telling me.

"What's the matter with you?" I asked.

"Well, I found a Playgirl magazine in the linen closet and I think your granddaughter has been reading it."

Now, even though I have always been a firm believer that kids should be told all about their beginnings right by the kitchen sink, and not find it out at the gateway to the Primrose Path, still I found that I wasn't so sure my granddaughter's mother would feel the same way. So I tore upstairs, and found her standing in front of the mirror, smiling at herself.

"Hi Grams," she grinned. "Where is it... where is it?" I shrieked.

"Where is what..." she asked.

"The Playgirl magazine."

"There in the linen closet. It is honestly the dumbest magazine I have ever seen," and she yawned and walked out of the room. "You'd think they would put something new in it, wouldn't you?" she called back as she went down the stairs.

The whole episode reminded me of a time when my youngest was eleven years old. Her father had caught her reading Penthouse, and I had done the same running up the stairs and shrieking, in spite of my philosophy.

I found her standing sideways, peering into a mirror, alternately pulling her tummy in and then pushing it out.

"Guess what I just found out," she said, as if she hadn't heard me screaming. "I found out that you don't really have to hold your breath all the time you're holding your stomach in."

And she stood there puffing out her cheeks, and pulling in her tummy, and puffing out her tummy and sucking in her cheeks.

"Honey," I said, as I plopped down on her bed, and looked at this little kid who was growing up. "Now that you're growing up, are there any questions you'd like to ask me?"

"About what?" she answered in an absent-minded way as she pushed at herself to make her waist smaller, and other things bigger.

"Well, you know..." I rambled off into a fog. "When little girls get to certain ages they become curious, and I would much rather..."

But before I could finish the sentence she whirled around and plopped down beside me. "Oh mom," she howled, "do you mean you want to tell me about going to bed with someone and getting a baby?"

Naturally I tried to keep my cool. Naturally that was what I wanted to tell her, only not in those words.

"Well, aren't you curious about how new life is formed, and, all that?" I asked getting pretty nervous myself.

"Oh, mom, are you quaint!" and this eleven year old grabbed me around the neck and hugged me tight. "You're so old-fashioned... well, pardon me, mom, but you are kind of old, you know. You don't have to tell me that stuff, I've known it for years..."

"You mean you've been reading those Penthouse magazines..." I began.

"Gosh no," she yelled. "All that stuff is taught in school, that's so we can get the facts."

And she puffed out her cheeks and pulled in her tummy.

MONA GRIGG

I'm ashamed to admit, even after all those books, that until this year I just assumed that using the library was some sort of inalienable right.

It was unthinkable for a library to close its doors when I was a young girl. Unheard of. Through thick and thin, feast or famine, the one thing you could count on were the libraries being open.

Libraries were important to people then. Every community had at least one they could point to with pride. To have closed one would have been an admission of... what? Short-sightedness? Yes. Ignorance? That, too. Barbarianism? Indubitably.

mona grigg

Who would close a library

The Henry Ford Centennial Library in Dearborn is housed in a magnificent building. It holds more books and has more aids than any library in the area. When I'm doing research I use that library more than any other. I had always felt welcome there. They even gave me a library card.

But now they tell me if I want to take books outside those doors again, it'll cost me $25 a year.

I don't want to pay $25 a year for a service that's always been free.

And I don't want to stop taking books out, either.

It isn't enough that they'll let me use their building — I need that two weeks take-out time to savor what I've been reading.

I would feel like a kid peering into a candy store window if I couldn't take books out. All those goodies in there and all I can do is look.

So I said "nuts" to the Henry Ford Centennial Library and I went back to my favorite "little" library, the Garden City Public Library.

Only when I got there — to my favorite little library — there was a notice on the door telling me, in terms most polite, that as a Westland resident I was "persona non grata."

I could use the facilities, they said, but could no longer take out books. Someone in my town had quit paying the library bill. Another candy store window.

And "Ditto," it turned out, with the Belleville Library.

And "Ditto" with the Canton Library.

And now there are rumors of "Ditto" with the Livonia libraries.

So my only recourse (and not a bad one, at that) is to use the "littlest" one — the Wayne-Westland Library. (I think they're stuck with me since the world "Westland" is on their sign.)

But there's a problem there, too: With all those other libraries shutting us out, everyone is rushing to little Wayne-Westland. They're hinting now that maybe some of us ought to stay away — at least until the crowds subside.

When I was a young girl frequenting whichever public library happened to be within my range, it never occurred to me to wonder where the money was coming from to buy the books I read, or to pay the salaries of the people who "shushed" me or helped me find my books, or to keep the doors open in those grand buildings housing all those books and people.

Cudini parlays $50,000 into million dollar business

By JERRY DESHARNAIS
Special ANP Writer

In 1966, Roger B. Cudini, then 29, and his father Roger F., began a business in the back of a store in Southfield.

With a capital of $50,000, they began making little hinges for a North American Rockwell military plane.

To be competitive, they sold it for a "ridiculously low" price in order to get their first sale — $1.25 per hinge. Total annual revenue — $500.

From little acorns, do big oaks grow.

Today, the Cudini Corporation, located at 28450 Middlebelt, Romulus, employs 42 persons and has an estimated annual gross revenue of $2 million plus. It pumps out 50,000 manufactured parts a year.

The firm is nearing completion on parts for the first three of the Air Force's new bomber the B-1-B, the replacement of the B-52.

The first B-1-B will be flying at the end of 1984.

Cudini will also be providing parts for the C-5-B, an Air Force heavy transport plane in 1984.

Together, these two projects will provide "a healthy chunk of work" for the business.

Roger Cudini's father is now retired and he presides over the family-owned business in his offices located above the plant structure.

He explains that the parts manufacturing business goes through cycles, as do all businesses, and he expects an upswing in 1984, following a "lack-luster" year, and he predicts a significant increase in production in '85-86.

If firmly established, a parts manufacturing firm is not affected by the recession as is the automobile industry, particularly since his business is associated with military production.

In 1975, his corporation broke the million dollar gross figure. This landmark was achieved after moving to Romulus in 1967 on Beverly Road for more space and to be closer to the aircraft industry at Metropolitan Airport.

In 1968 the staff grew to 12 people and after weathering a mild recession business picked up in 1970. The building on Beverly expanded from 4500 to 8000 feet.

In the Fall of 1982, Cudini moved to the 12000-foot structure on Northline, expanding through the years to its current 34,000 feet.

To withstand cyclical swings, diversification is a natural development. Cudini started producing hinges for shower doors and tub enclosures for a Chicago firm.

A major diversification was the production of parts for computers, primarily a machine part for IBM's new large computers.

"All industries have cycles," Cudini said, "and we wanted to be able to put ourselves in a situation as the cycles come and go to better cope with the climatic change."

"Since our business is continually expanding, we want to expand in new areas."

A major boost to Cudini's progress has been the introduction, beginning 8 years ago, of numerical-controlled machines (pre-programmed manufacturing process with no labor) which now includes 9 machines.

This reduced labor by 50 percent and increased production by 200 percent.

"This has given us a bright future," said the 46-year-old president.

"Had we not introduced the machine in 1975, we would not have lasted through the current recession."

"It has to happen," he observed, "to survive you have to expand. The competition is extremely stiff in this aircraft industry, as in the automotive industry."

"The gross amount of work is reduced from the amount of 3 years ago."

"Aircraft commercial production is down considerably due to the recession and this makes jobs scarce."

Cudini was asked what is necessary to get the contract.

"First thing is price," he replied, "and you have to have quality."

"You have to have price to get it, and then you have to have quality to keep it."

A succinct philosophy which explains in part the growth of his firm over a period of 17 years. The other part is intelligence and hard work.

Roger is a member of the Romulus Chamber of Commerce and resides in Farmington Hills.

He and his wife Gretchen are the parents of two children. A daughter, Kim, attends Michigan State and his son is in high school.

Roger attended business school at Michigan State.

Right to the top . . .

ANP Staff Writer

A winning personality, desire to serve and professional contacts are prized ingredients in any political career — and Canton resident David Miller seems to have a head start on all three.

The 19-year-old Michigan Youth Corps (MYC) worker showed both courage and political savvy when, through the program, he invited himself for a visit with his employer, Governor Blanchard.

Miller, a political science major at Kalamazoo College, was working for the MYC at Mayberry State Park when he read about Project Stepping Stone, a portion of the MYC program that encourages MYC workers to visit business owners and employers to learn more about careers of their choice.

Miller took Project Stepping Stone straight to the top when he contacted the governor's office requesting that none other than Blanchard himself act as his host employer.

"I figured it made sense," Miller said. "After all, I'm interested in a political career and this was a good opportunity to learn more. I had read about how enthusiastic the governor was about the MYC program," he added, "so I figured he'd think my visit was a good idea."

"We were really impressed with David's initiative," MYC Lansing Press Secretary Kelly Rossman said. "I think he'll make a good politician."

Miller rode to Lansing last Wednesday with Senator Robert Geake of Westland and, according to David, the two political enthusiasts didn't lack for conversation. "We talked about everything," Miller said. "The senator is really a great guy."

"I'd never been to the Capitol before," Miller said of his Lansing arrival. "It is a beautiful building and everyone there was really nice." Miller admitted that his only discomfort surfaced when local press followed him with cameras and microphones.

"Everyone kidded me about that," Miller laughed. "They told me if I wanted to be a politician, I'd better get used to it."

The youth's Lansing itinerary included attending a press conference, touring the Senate Fiscal Agency, Senate office, Legislative Service Bureau, meeting Rep. Gerald Law and eating at a MYC headquarters luncheon. ("I was too excited to eat much," Miller admitted.)

Governor James Blanchard, David Miller and State Senator Robert Geake met in the governors office.

A highlight was a tour given by Senate Secretary Bill Kandler, where Miller was able to see in action the subjects he has been studying in theory.

Oh yes, and the governor. "That was last," Miller recalled. "I didn't get much of a chance to talk to Blanchard, but I did watch him meet with clubs and individuals and film a Muscular Dystrophy commercial."

Miller saw enough, however, to decide against gubernatorial goals. "From what I've seen, it's a tough, unrewarding job," the youth said. "You just can't make everyone happy."

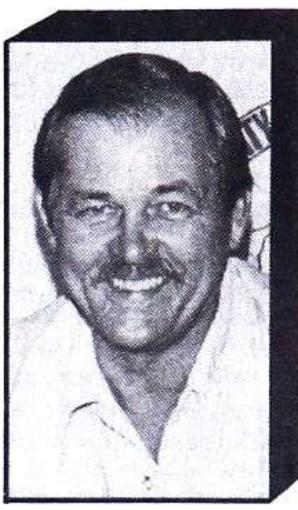

Miller said he is planning to apply for a job as a Lansing page, and hopes someday to be a senator.

Miller and Geake stopped for tacos ("I was really hungry by then") on their Wednesday return trip and the youth received some sound advice from his new friend.

"The senator told me to have a family early in my political career," Miller laughed. "Otherwise, I wouldn't have time for it later."

Mexico Inn

Combination plates satisfy every appetite

By DENNIS NIEMIEC
Feature Editor

Diners at Mexico Inn can expect to take some food home. With portions of more than ample size and combination plates of seven Mexican specialties, satisfying one's appetite isn't a problem here.

For 11 years the Garza family has been serving its special brand of Texas-style Mexican dishes at 910 S. Wayne Road near Cherry Hill in Westland. In this day of ever expanding Mexican restaurants, the Garzas continue to excel at their 135-seat capacity establishment through the home-cooked servings of "Mama" Garza and affordable prices.

Take, for instance, Mexico Inn's dinner specials. A combination plate, priced from $10.95 for two, includes beef and cheese burrito, beef and cheese enchilada, beef flour taco, beef corn taco, cheese and bean tostada, rice and beans. With this meal, coffee, tea or pop is priced at 19 cents and a chocolate or strawberry ice cream dessert is 29 cents.

In addition to several combination offerings, the dinner menu features nachos, botanas, Mexican pork stew and various American entrees, including broasted chicken, fried shrimp and a hamburger deluxe plate.

Corn chips and hot sauce are served with all dinners and a children's menu is available. Sugar and cinnamon chips (35 cents) make an excellent dessert.

South-of-the-border cocktails are always popular, ranging from fresh margaritas, pina colada and daiquiries to the tequila sunrise, Spanish coffee and the Sombrero (blended tequila, kahlua and cream). Beer, both American and Mexican, and assorted wines round out a varied beverage list. Happy Hour runs from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. and 5 to 8 p.m. daily.

For lunch Mexico Inn provides several combination plates for $3.49 with a special price of $6.75 for two meals. Various dishes feature tacos, enchiladas, tostadas, rice and beans.

"Nine times out of 10 people take some food home because they simply can't finish everything," remarked Bob Garza. "It's a much better situation than an all-you-can-eat dinner."

"For years some people stayed away from Mexican food because they thought everything was hot," he said. "They've found out that the food is not hot, we supply a hot sauce for those who want to add it, but that's for each person to decide. Someday Mexican food will become more popular than pizza."

Mexico Inn's business hours are from 11 a.m. till 11 p.m. Monday thru Thursday; 11 a.m. till midnight, Friday and Saturday, and 2 p.m. till 11 p.m. Sunday. The phone number to place an order is 728-8010.

cable beat
... by dennis fassett
Sky is the limit

In spite of the CATV industry's multi-channel capability, and its potential for delivering programming aimed at small "narrow" interest markets, early cable entrepreneurs demonstrated little interest in locally produced programming.

While a few cable systems did attempt to provide subscribers with some form of additional programming, most lacked the resources, the motivation, or the experience to do any more than just re-deliver local and distant broadcast television signals to their viewers.

Considered as just an extension of broadcast television with no personality of its own, cable was now forced to compete with an exploding broadcast television industry... and cable was losing. While cable did serve a need in a market with one, or maybe two broadcast stations, its perceived value was declining in proportion to broadcast's growth, as the networks embarked on programs to fill the airways with new programming. And while cable had the channel capacity broadcast lacked, the new industry did not have the resources to extensively involve itself in original programming efforts necessary to effectively compete with broadcast.

And then the cable depression hit the industry. If the CATV industry was to survive at all, it would have to quickly counter broadcast's competitive advantage... programming, and also create new services which would provide the industry with its own identity. Cable needed a new idea.

In November of 1975, the new idea became a reality.

On a cold, clear day, executives of a new company watched anxiously as the Master Switch was thrown. An event as important to CATV as the invention of the wheel was to society, was about to take place.

The switch controlled a transmitter feeding a 30-foot diameter parabolic antenna which was aimed at a one-degree spot in space, 22,500 miles directly over the equator.

As the RCA Satcom I communications satellite in synchronous orbit with earth received that first signal, amplified it, and re-broadcast it to a waiting antenna back on earth, Home Box Office was on the "bird" and cable would never be the same again.

Now, for the first time, a cable company in Michigan, Texas, New York, or California could instantly receive and re-deliver to subscribers, first-run movies, sports, and special programming without cost-prohibitive production costs.

Cable's new idea arrived, and not a minute too soon.

For the first year, Home Box Office (HBO), found few cable operators willing to invest in the necessary Earth Station receiving equipment that would allow their new signals into the homes of cable subscribers. But a new attitude was taking hold in the industry.

The "launch" of HBO's cable programming service on satellite ended cable's "dark ages." The CATV industry was now, or could be, a producer, as well as a provider of programming.

A year after HBO's historic start of satellite programming exclusively for cable, Ted Turner, the man "who was cable when cable wasn't cool" contracted to put his Atlanta channel 17, WTBS, on the "bird" with HBO. And cable was now on a "roll." Cable operators from across the country flocked to buy and install earth station receivers and to offer subscribers this new exclusive programming that would allow them to effectively compete with broadcast.

From the beginning of cable in the late 40's until the launch of HBO's programming service, the CATV industry had grown slowly.

In 1975, prior to HBO, 2,500 cable systems were in operation across the country. Following the launch of HBO and WTBS, the cable industry literally exploded with new activity.

From '75 to '79, cable's 2,500 systems grew to over 4,700 systems with 2,400 additional franchises applied for. In 1979, 14.5 million American homes subscribed to cable services, 20 percent of all U.S. households in nearly 10,000 communities.

Bowlers are top champs

Last fall five young women from Wayne decided to form a team in the Town and Country Lanes Bowlerettes' League.

Today the team is $15,000 richer, the winner of the prestigious Champ of Champs Bowling Tournament.

Patti Rogowski (139 average), Sue Balek (120), Cindy Komraus (121), Rose Harrison (137) and Beth Tracy (148) earned the title by rolling a 3,195 score with handicap in the tournament finals at Cherry Hill Lanes. Sponsored by the Famous Recipe Chicken Restaurant in Wayne, the squad had qualified for the post-season event by placing second in league competition.

Their actual pinfall in the finals included Rogowski (471 series), Tracy (533), Harrison (441), Komraus (432) and Balek (421).

End-of-the-summer salad

A large salad bowl bountifully filled with chicken, rice, vegetables and fruit, will fill your family's nutritional requirements for the "basic four." It will also fill your time requirements for combining meal and activity deadlines.

Prepare Tropical Chicken and Rice Salad for busy days. The only advance cooking needed is one broiler-fryer chicken, one pan of rice and one package of peas. Layer all ingredients for eye appeal in a deep clear bowl; then refrigerate.

To keep it fresh as family members serve themselves at different times, cover the salad with a plastic wrap that really clings. One of the newer plastic wraps now on the market can be stretched gently to give an even tighter cling than other wraps. Use this plastic wrap in combination with this new salad idea and you're sure to have a fresh tasting meal to please everyone on your busy schedule.

Tropical Chicken and Rice Salad

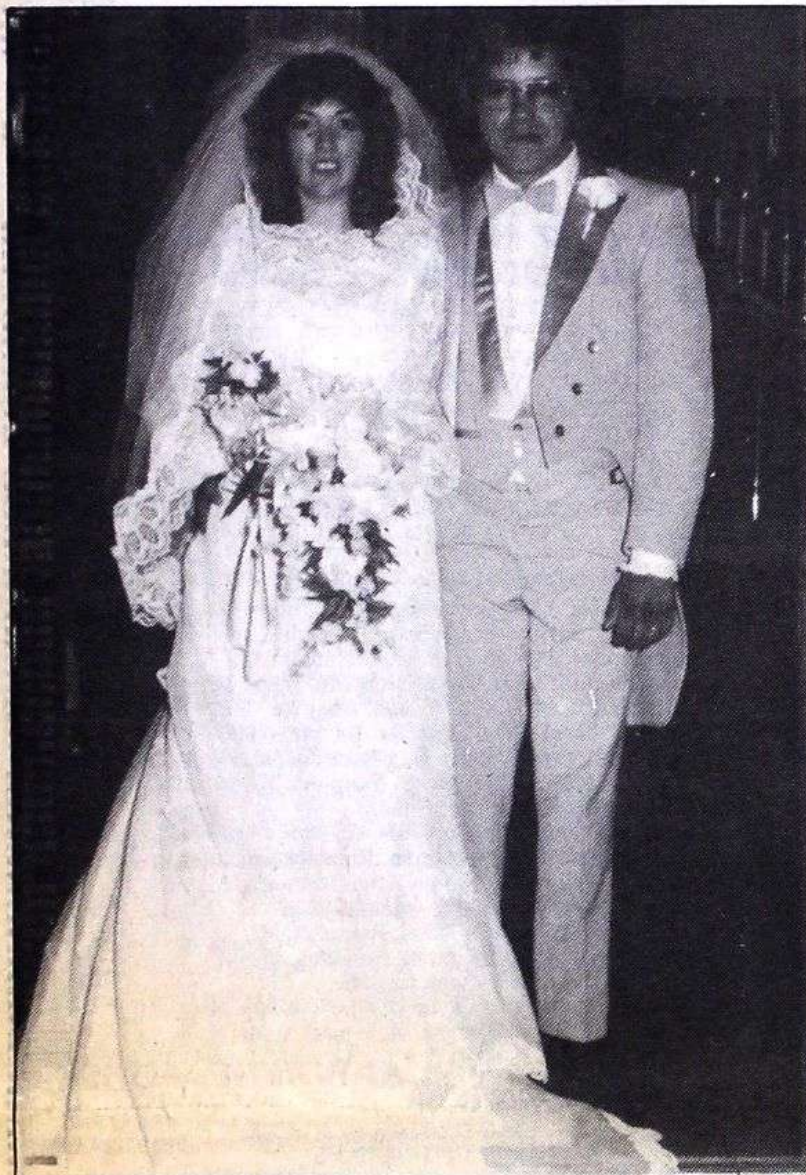

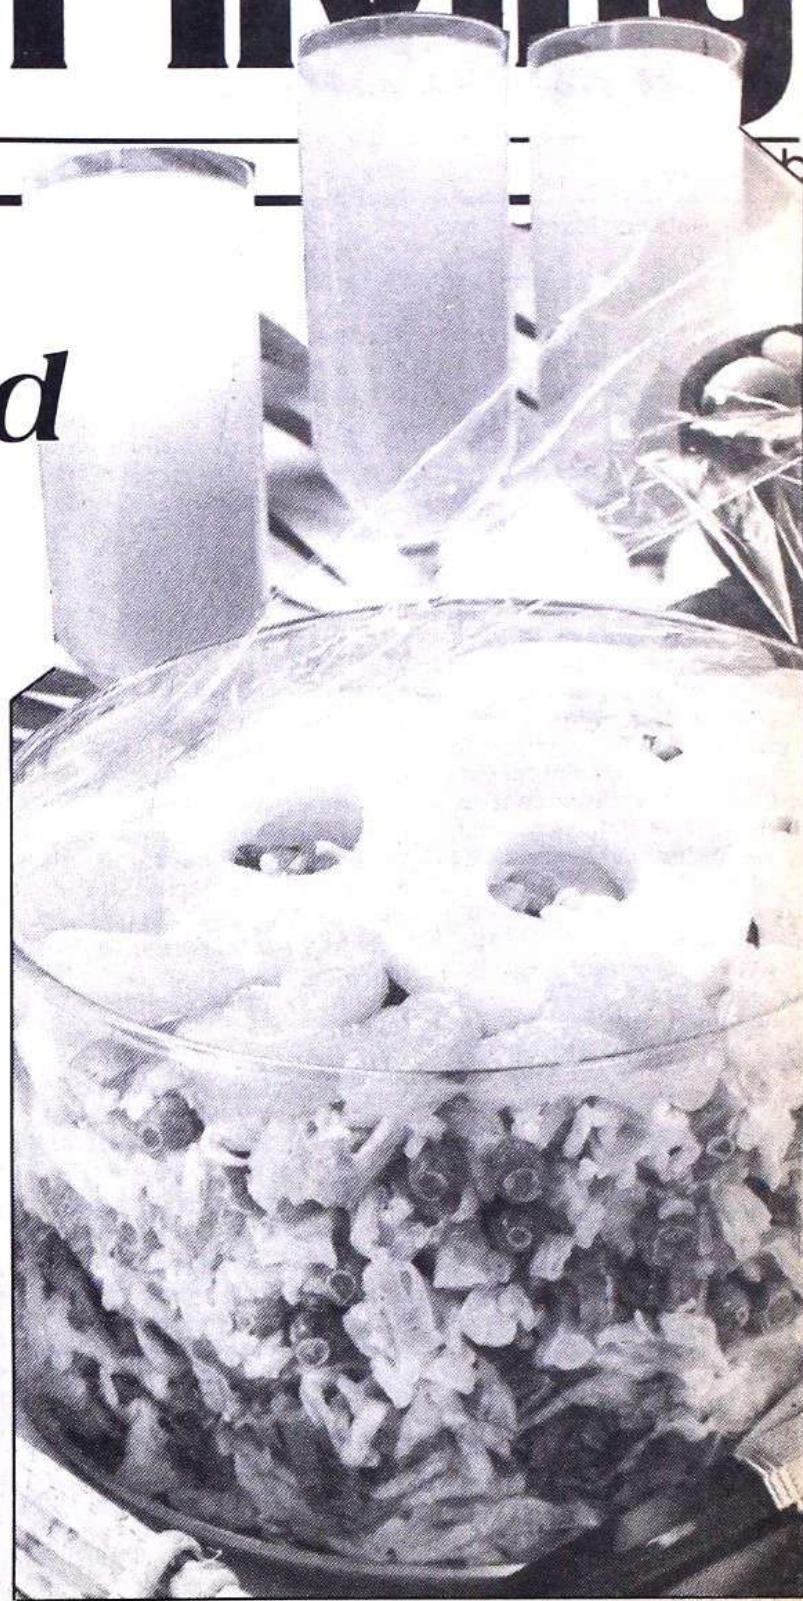

SALAD:
4 cups lettuce, cut in thin shreds
3 lb. broiler-fryer chicken, cooked and chopped
2 cups cooked rice, cooled
1 package (10 oz.) frozen peas, cooked tender-crisp
1 cup sliced celery
¼ teaspoon salt
Dash pepper

TOPPING:
1 can (8½ oz.) pineapple slices, drained
1 can (11 oz.) mandarin orange sections, drained
Cashews (optional)

DRESSING:
½ cup mayonnaise
½ cup peach yogurt
¾ teaspoon curry powder
¼ teaspoon onion powder

Layer lettuce in 2½-quart straight-sided glass bowl. In a separate bowl combine chicken and remaining salad ingredients; set aside. Combine dressing ingredients; stir until blended. Mix dressing with chicken mixture; spoon over lettuce layer. Arrange pineapple and oranges over top of salad. Cover bowl with Reynolds Plastic Wrap, stretching to fit. Refrigerate several hours or overnight. For each serving, spoon out some of each layer. Top with cashews, if desired. Makes: 4 to 5 servings.

To Micro-Cook Chicken: Place chicken parts in 12x8x2-inch baking dish with meatiest parts towards outside edge. If desired, season with sliced onion and parsley. Cover dish with Reynolds Plastic Wrap, turning back one edge to vent. Micro-cook at high power setting 10 to 14 minutes, turning dish several times, or until chicken is tender. Cool and remove from bone.

MR. AND MRS. DAVID R. ZILKA

Kris Quasarano, David Zilka wed at St. Paul's Church

A week-long motor trip through Northern Michigan, the Upper Peninsula and Chicago followed the June 25 altar date of Kristine L. Quasarano and David R. Zilka, both of Romulus.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Quasarano of 15735 Taft and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Zilka of 37256 Eureka, the young couple exchanged vows and wedding bands before The Rev. Carl Trosien at St. Paul's Lutheran Church.

Some 200 guests witnessed the afternoon rite at which organist Kevin Otter accompanied Mrs. Irene Shaffer as she sang "Just You and I," "We've Only Just Begun" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Sheer organza and Chantilly lace were used to create the traditional white wedding gown which the bride chose for her special day. Designed with a Sabrina neckline and bishop sleeves, the toe-touching skirt drifted into a semi-cathedral train which terminated in a lace-banded flounce.

Her fingertip veil of silk illusion was outlined with Chantilly lace and fell from a matching lace headpiece. Cascading white roses with accents in pale blue completed her ensemble.

Preceding the bride and her father to the altar which was graced with blue and white silk roses and blue stock were the bride's aunt, Mrs. Joan Rayna of Dearborn Heights, the honor attendant, and six bridesmaids: Lisa George and Kelli Ginisti of Romulus; Nancy Ruhl of Dexter, cousin of the bridegroom; Debbie Zilka of Romulus, his sister, and Jean Zilka and Nancy Zilka of Romulus, two of his cousins.

Their lustrous polyester gowns in icy blue were accessorized by colonial bouquets of silk blue and lavender roses and baby's breath.

Flower girl was Jennifer Bowling, daughter of the Robert Bowlings of Canton, and ringbearer was Tommy Zilka, son of the Robert Zilkas of Romulus.

Jeff Schonscheck of Belleville carried out the duties of best man. The corps of ushers included Chris Angelbrandt of Lincoln Park, cousin of the bride; Fred Block of Romulus, Dan Ruhl of Chelsea and Dale Zilka of Romulus, cousins of the bridegroom; Don Zilka of Romulus, his brother, and Robert Zilka of Romulus, a cousin.

At the reception which followed at Thomas Crystal Gardens and Epicurean House in Southgate, the bride's mother greeted some 350 relatives and friends in a formal lavender gown accented by a wrist corsage of silk mauve lilies. Similar flowers were presented to the bridegroom's mother who donned a mauve ensemble for the occasion.

The newlyweds are making their home at 15735 Taft, Romulus.

The new Mrs. Zilka graduated from Huron High School and later attended Woodhaven Cosmetology School. Her husband, a graduate of Romulus High School, is currently employed as a truck driver for A.C. Express of Romulus.

potpourri

By Lee Smith
Suburban Living Editor

Steaming kettles of tomatoes, Mason and Kerr jars bathing in the dishwasher, their respective lids and rings ready for the capping detail, with still more of the Romas and Beefsteaks awaiting their turns (all in a hot kitchen) evoked memories the other day of another time — long ago — when the whole scene was being played by a much younger woman and her pre-teen daughter.

There was no dishwasher, however; the product wasn't tomatoes and the brow of the lady involved was not adrip from sweltering surroundings. That's because the dishwasher was me, the preferred produce was pears, peaches and cucumbers and the lady-of-the-house had a cool, comfortable canning kitchen in her basement.

I can visualize clearly that second-hand, cream-colored gas stove (with its skinny black legs) top heavy with granite kettles. Full of fruits or vegetables, their wonderful, tummy-tingling aromas wafted upwards to the first and second floors to taunt and tease the senses of the five fellas in the family...and me!

I think the most vivid of my recollections, though, and probably because of its incongruity, is the oval enamel baby bathtub which was hauled out when cukes were "in." After her babies had outgrown its use, my mother found it the perfect receptacle for all those thinly sliced cucumbers which were set to soak and later, combined with onions and a vinegary-spicy-sweet mixture, turned into her marvelous bread and butter pickles.

As for "Juliana's Pears," there were none to compare. I don't know if it was her "secret ingredient" or not, but the lemon slices she added to each quart didn't seem to show up in other mothers' offerings. And, oh, they were just the best part of each jar.

It always bothered her, though, that she couldn't get her peaches as smoothly beautiful as those produced commercially. When she eventually learned the process was done with acid, she resigned herself to that sorta straggly home-canned look for her Albertas or Freestones or whatever. I remember helping pull the skins off after the fruit had been settled in boiling water for a spell and getting to remove the pits once they were halved. There, again, the aroma — that of whole cloves, stock cinnamon and a sugary syrup — would just make us all froth at the mouth.

I never questioned why she undertook such a burdensome, time-consuming task as canning back then; I just took it as a "motherly duty" — a chore women naturally performed. And when our lady customers, women friends and my aunts would shake their heads at such "craziness," (we didn't even have a garden!) I never thought to question their actions.

It wasn't 'til I became a home preservationist (ahem) myself that I came to realize what it truly involved. Only then did I, too, wonder "why?"

Why had my mother, who had a full-time job running our "corner store" — country corner store just about 150 yards from our house — bothered to "put things up" when she had shelves full of Libbey's, Del Monte, Hunt's, Heinz and Vlasic offspring, each ready for the mere twist of a can opener?

As I've looked upon the neat rows of V-8 and tomato juice, pickled beets, applesauce, stewed tomatoes and sweet pickles in my own "fruit cellar" over the years, I've come to realize that part of that dear lady's motive stemmed from pride — the pride of knowing you've taken the freshest bushels full of "something" and turned them into the tastiest, best, homemade treat possible. I'm sure she didn't mind hearing her kids boast, "My Mom made this" either!

Without knowing it herself, though, she had done it out of caring. Who knows, but the term "labor of love" might have originated and also been preserved in that canning kitchen in the basement.

BY SPECIAL REQUEST

HERE, ONCE AGAIN, is that thrifty (cheap) way of making your own soil and stain remover for use in the laundry. Simply mix equal portions of ammonia, liquid laundry detergent and water in a spray bottle. Stir gently but don't shake or you'll have nothing but foam. It works as well as any of the name brands and costs pennies by comparison and I do mean pennies; my 24 ounces totaling under 50 cents!

S-COOL DAZE

IT WAS THE KID'S first day in school and Mom was waiting at the door when he came home. "What did you learn in school today?" she asked.

"I learned to write," he said.

"And what did you write?" she asked.

"How should I know? I haven't learned to read yet."

TEACHERS NEVER seem to put down kids anymore. A young lad had a notation on his report card that he was very adept in the creative use of visual aids for learning.

His father called up his teacher and said, "What does that mean — 'the creative use of visual aids'?" The teacher responded, "He copies from the kid in the next seat."

TRIVIA, ANYONE?

• A Santa Claus School was opened in 1937 in Albion, N.Y. to train men to play the part of Santa Claus. Six students enrolled for the one-week course.

• The Republican Party was formed in 1854 in Ripon, Wisconsin and received its name that July in Jackson, Michigan.

• The foggiest place in the U.S. is Cape Disappointment at the mouth of the Columbia River in Washington. It has about 106 days of fog a year.

• The world's greatest migrators are birds called the Arctic terns. They travel each year to the Antarctic; the round trip totaling about 25,000 miles.

• A cold spot — Mount Washington in New Hampshire — clocked winds at 231 miles per hour one April day in 1934.

THE BOTTOM LINE: When a boy turns out great, it's heredity. When he doesn't, it's "those kids he hangs around with."

Quotes worth quoting...

"A hero is no braver than an ordinary man, but he is brave five minutes longer."

Ralph Waldo Emerson said it.

Richard Sullivan

A day in the busy life of a Michigan legislator

By JERRY DESHARNAIS
(Special ANP Writer)

"It's a constant learning experience, let's face it, I don't care how long you've been up there."

The first thing to learn, said Rep. Richard F. Sullivan, (D-Huron) is the legislative process.

Sullivan has just completed the first six months of his first term as State Representative from the 21st District which includes the northern tier of Monroe and the southern part of Wayne, Huron and Sumpter.

The second thing to learn is the needs of the people.

The general impression of the public is that political decisions are made on the legislative floor. In fact, issues are resolved in committee meetings and caucus.

Sullivan estimates that he spends three or four hours each day reviewing and researching proposed legislation.

He is a member of 5 committees: Military and Veterans' Affairs, vice chairman; Agriculture and Forestry; Economic Development and Energy; Liquor Control; and Transportation.

The actual time spent by a typical legislator on the floor of the house, Sullivan estimates, is about two hours for each session, once a day, with a different starting time for each day.

But if the session is special, it could last all night as during budget time in late June when they were let out at 4:30 a.m., the work still incomplete.

In addition to committee work and homework, he spends an enormous amount of his time going out in the District, which has a 77,000 population, and meeting with the people regarding their concerns.

"That's the most important thing for a legislator," he notes. "You can't be isolated."

CITY OF BELLEVILLE COUNCIL MINUTES

AUGUST 29, 1983 SPECIAL MEETING
A special meeting of the City Council for the City of Belleville, County of Wayne and State of Michigan was called to order at 7:30 p.m. by Mayor Emerson with Councilmembers Stinehour, Carlson, Tontalo and Wertz present.

Also present: Frank Pascarella
Meeting held as study session to discuss city manager's recommendations for equipment purchases, holding cell administration and budget for Police Reserves. No action taken, meeting adjourned 9:45 p.m.

A recent example is a meeting Aug. 22 in Frenchtown on the lakeside of Monroe County. About 100 people showed up to discuss and ask questions about utility rates.

Sullivan chaired the meeting which also included Rep. Elma Stallworth, chairperson of the committee on Public Utilities.

The meeting in some part helped in an area which is the most important aspect of his job.

"Communication is the weakest link in the political structure," he said. "There has to be this dialogue between the community and the legislator."

"You see," he continued, "people think that once you're elected, you cease to be human, you become an infallible, infinite being who can make no mistakes."

"In fact, we are human and we cannot function properly unless we know and understand the goals, the concerns and the issues of the people."

Sullivan entered the legislature at age 70, perhaps the oldest person ever to be elected to the House.

Following a 23-year career as an accountant with Ford Motor Co., Sullivan ran for Huron Township trustee in 1974 and won. He was 61.

He served as township treasurer and was elected township supervisor in 1980, a position which he resigned after winning his legislative seat.

Sullivan won the Democratic primary in August, 1982 with little organization support.

He was 69 and this proved to be an asset rather than a liability since he gained the senior citizens' vote. Also, the vote in the Monroe area was split by 5 candidates.

The freshman representative gets home every weekend from Lansing to visit with his wife, Dorothy, in New Boston. His three children, Beth, a school teacher in Waverly; a daughter, Dorothy, a banker in Lansing; and a son, Jerry, a lieutenant colonel in the army, make up his family.

But the weekends are not just recreation. There are meetings and social events all over the District which he attends often with his wife.

Rep. Sullivan returned to

RICHARD SULLIVAN
Lansing Sept. 1 in preparation for the Sept. 13 opening of the Fall session.

Q. & A.

Q. When are gourds ready for harvest?

A. Harvest gourds when the outer shell is so hard that you can't easily dent it with a fingernail. Be sure to harvest before frost — frost or freezing damages the shells and increases the possibility that gourds will spoil rather than dry.

Q. What does it mean to pinch chrysanthemums?

A. It means to remove the last inch or so of each stem periodically to encourage the plant to branch. Stop pinching around July 4 so plants can develop flower buds for a fall display.

New season, new leagues

Battles begin for prep grid teams

Some things never change. Like high school football. No one in Lansing at the Michigan High School Athletic Association would ever think about switching the season to the summer or spring months. Like switching golf from spring to fall.

Sure, there may be a few rules and equipment changes, but when the thousands of high school youngsters hit the gridiron Friday and Saturday, you can count on the action beginning as intense and tough as when Knute Rockne played the game, oh, way back when.

And, despite the financial problems schools may be having these days, you can also always be sure when the teams enter the gridiron, the players and the officials leave the disillusionment and bitterness behind.

After all, football personifies life: the physical and mental come together to win.

And is there a coach or a player who is not optimistic in September? If there is, he hasn't been heard from.

If the game really hasn't changed, many of the leagues have.

Romulus, for the first time in over a decade, finds itself competing for a league championship, while Wayne Memorial and Belleville have been united for the first time in a conference that brings the best of the Suburban 8 and the Great Lakes 8 together. Also, the Suburban Athletic Conference also has a new member.

First let's deal with Romulus. Playing as an independent since the dissolution of the old Twin Valley Conference, the Eagles have joined the newly-formed Metro Conference which will include Oak Park, Taylor Truman and Taylor Center.

"It gives our players something to shoot for during the season," said sophomore coach Norbert Glover. "In the past we played for the record, to try to get into the state playoffs. Now, there is a league championship to set our sights on."

Floyd Carter, Wayne Memorial's head football coach, believes that the old Great Lakes 8 Conference "was a pretty good football conference, but the Wolverine 'A' will be tougher."

"When you look at Fordson, which has been in the state playoffs for four times and in the Silverdome twice and Monroe, which has had some excellent teams, then pick up Trenton from the Suburban 8 Conference, a team that has had some state title contenders, plus Belleville, a well-coached and competitive team, and bunch them all into one league, it's going to be tough," Carter said.

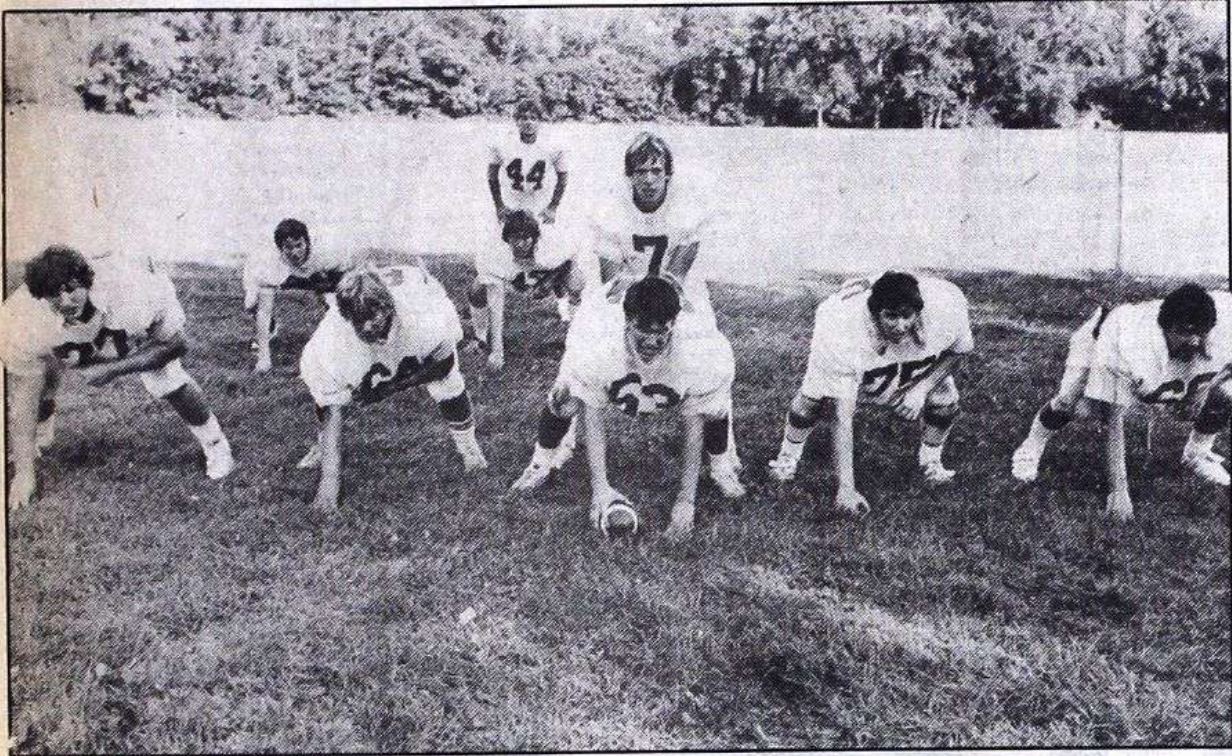

The new league, named "Wolverine A" Athletic Conference, also will include Wyandotte and Lincoln Park.

Belleville's Michael Colletta concurs with Carter's assessment of the new conference.

"The schools in this new alignment have a tradition of producing outstanding athletes and football teams," Colletta said. "It should be a league to watch."

In the meantime, Robichaud and Inkster, area representatives in the Suburban Athletic Conference, will have an additional league foe to plot against. Although not a new rival, Willow Run, has been officially accepted into the ranks of the Suburban Athletic.

"Willow Run is noted for its excellent speed and quickness," said Bob Yauck, head football coach at Robichaud. "SAC teams have played them (Willow Run) in the past but as a non-league game. It will be interesting to see how they will be as a league contender."

Beware of the Zebras

Coach Floyd Carter at Wayne Memorial will field one of his biggest teams and if the veteran grid strategist can solve his team's defensive problems the Zebras could be the team to beat in the newly aligned Wolverine Class A. Among those Carter and his staff will be counting upon during the 1983 campaign are Mike Quartuccio (7) who returns at quarterback; Bob McCarther (41), full back; Donnie Lynn (21), flanker and Bob Matheney (44), tailback; at center is Joe Czasniowski (53), guards Victor Wilkins (75) and Mike Besco (64); tackle Doug Mac (77) and middle guard Todd Shreve (66). Wayne will launch the 1983 season Friday night at Garden City. Because Garden City's field is not ready for the opener, the game has been switched for Garden City (West) Junior High School, located on Ford Road.

Sports Briefs

Romulus seeks volleyball teams

Romulus Recreation Department is seeking teams and players for its co-ed adult volleyball leagues. The women's division is slated to compete Monday evenings, beginning Oct. 3 at Romulus Junior High School.

"This is strictly a 'fun league' and there will be no trophies awarded or playoffs," said Dennis Davidson, recreation director. "There has been enough interest for this kind of league, so we decided to try it this year."

Teams will have to pay a $95 registration fee.

The men's league will get underway on Oct. 4. The co-ed league will start the following night. At the end of the regular season, playoffs will be staged and trophies awarded to the winners. League cost is $195 per team.

Team representatives for all three leagues are urged to contact the parks and recreation department for further information. A managerial meeting will be held at 11 a.m. Sat., Sept. 24 to discuss further details.

Opp wins Bobby Crim road race

Westland John Glenn's super sophomore Karen Opp captured first place honors at the recently staged Bobby Crim 10-Mile Road race held in Flint.

The Bobby Crim Road Race draws some of the best runners in the state and the country.

Karen accomplished the feat by completing the course in 74 minutes and 6 seconds, approximately one minute ahead of her nearest rival.

"I am very pleased with Karen's performance," said Ed Phillips, Glenn cross country coach. "Karen really picked up her time from her last race and showed a lot of desire. Her last five miles in the race were much faster than her first five miles."

The victory established the Glenn athlete as one of the finest 14-15 year-old female runners in the state.

Karen was part of a group of 14 John Glenn cross country runners who competed in the Bobby Crim race.

Inkster needs adult grid clubs

The Inkster Parks and Recreation Department is organizing an adult football league and those who wish to enter a team or play on one are urged to attend an organizational meeting scheduled at 6 p.m., Sept. 26 at the

Belleville equestrienne wins medal

August 19 was a red letter day for Ms. Jan Sheets of Belleville and her Half Arabian horse Grand Illusion.

Together they won the ride-off at the prestigious Detroit Dressage Show and took home the Michigan Horse Show Association's Training Level Dressage Medal.

Sheets is a horseshoer and her avocation, riding, is a natural connection. Special thanks went to Sheet's trainer Sharrone Peters.

The ride-off, held at the grounds of the Bloomfield Open

Hunt Club in Bloomfield Hills, was the first in an MHSA pilot program to provide more opportunities for developing dressage riders to compete.

Champs crowned

When the last hurrahs were heard recently in the Romulus Class A men's softball league, Tom's Lawn and Snow Care emerged with the playoff title. And Dennis Davidson (at right) congratulates Tom Peters, manager of the championship team, and presented him with the championship trophy.

Sabin, Eberle win Romulus golf title

It had all of the excitement of a "sudden death" playoff of Jack Nicklaus and Tom Watson as the team of Mark Kwek and John Eberle took on Al Sabin and Mike Eberle for the Romulus Men's Golf League championship.

Both teams were tied at the end of the season with 249 points and a special playoff was held Thursday evening at Shady Hollow Golf Course.

A large gallery of four or five people watched as Kwek teed off first on the 140 yard par 3 tenth hole. He put his first shot within 10 feet of the pin and everyone thought the match was over right there.

John Bliss stepped up next and put his shot 2 yards short of the green and did Mike Eberle.

Al Sabin's first shot was shanked and went over in the 1st fairway. Sabin's second shot was up close to the green. Bliss put his second shot approx. 6 feet beyond the pin. Mike Eberle's second shot was placed 8 feet from the pin, but the shot of the day was Sabin's when he placed his 3rd shot within 6 inches from the cup.

Kwek's birdie attempt rimmed the cup and rolled about 4 inches away.

Eberle then stepped up and promptly sunk his 8 foot putt putting a lot of pressure on John Bliss.

John took his time and putted his par attempt to within a half inch from the cup. He tapped out for a four. That put it all onto Al Sabin, who sunk his 6 inch putt which tied the hole scratch, but because Kwek and Bliss had to spot Sabin and Eberle one stroke for the difference in handicaps.

Sabin and Eberle took the league championship in sudden death. Dick Butz and Andre Mondoux ended up in third place in the 16 team league.

Trophies will be given out at the league's Saturday, Sept. 10 outing at Clark Lake for 1st, 2nd and 3rd place.

Trophies will also be given for the most improved golfer, which this year is Don Blok who improved his average by 4 strokes over last year; low game scratch which will go to Mark Kwek who carded a 34 and low game handicap which is a tie between Ron Dubsy and Lee Silvey with a 26 for each of them. To add some competition to the outing, the league will be competing in three flights depending on handicaps.

Trophies will be awarded to the winner of each flight.

Mitch's snatches Wayne city crown away from Jamie's

It didn't take long for Mitch's to prove that they are the best softball team in Wayne.

Jumping to a 9-2 lead after two innings, Mitch's buried Jamie's 12-5 in the nightcap of a best of three series, after edging their arch rivals 8-6 in the opening game, to capture the 1983 city championship.

In the finale, Mitch's got to losing pitcher Al Coppola for five runs in the first inning then struck for four more in the second to take a commanding lead.

Jamie's responded with a pair of runs in the first and fourth frames and chalked up their final tally of the 1983 campaign in the bottom of the sixth.

Kevin Johnson, Dan Parker and John Bullard led the champs. Johnson laced two singles and a double and drove in two runs, while Parker and Bullard each had a couple of doubles and a single and accounted for two and three runs batted in, respectively. Bob Fullerton drilled two singles for the winners.

Fullerton picked up the victory after allowing 13 hits, three of those were singles to Sam Onalbo. Tim Goilfoyle hammered a homer and Jeff Hughes got a pair of singles for the losers.

In the opening game, Jamie's launched their attack on Fullerton in the opening inning as they tilted the scoreboard in their favor for three runs. However, Mitch's came right back to tie the score and go ahead 4-3 in that inning, picked up two runs in the second and added single tallies in the third and fourth frames.

Jamie's kept the outcome of the game in doubt until the last inning as they scored one in the fourth, fifth and second inning.

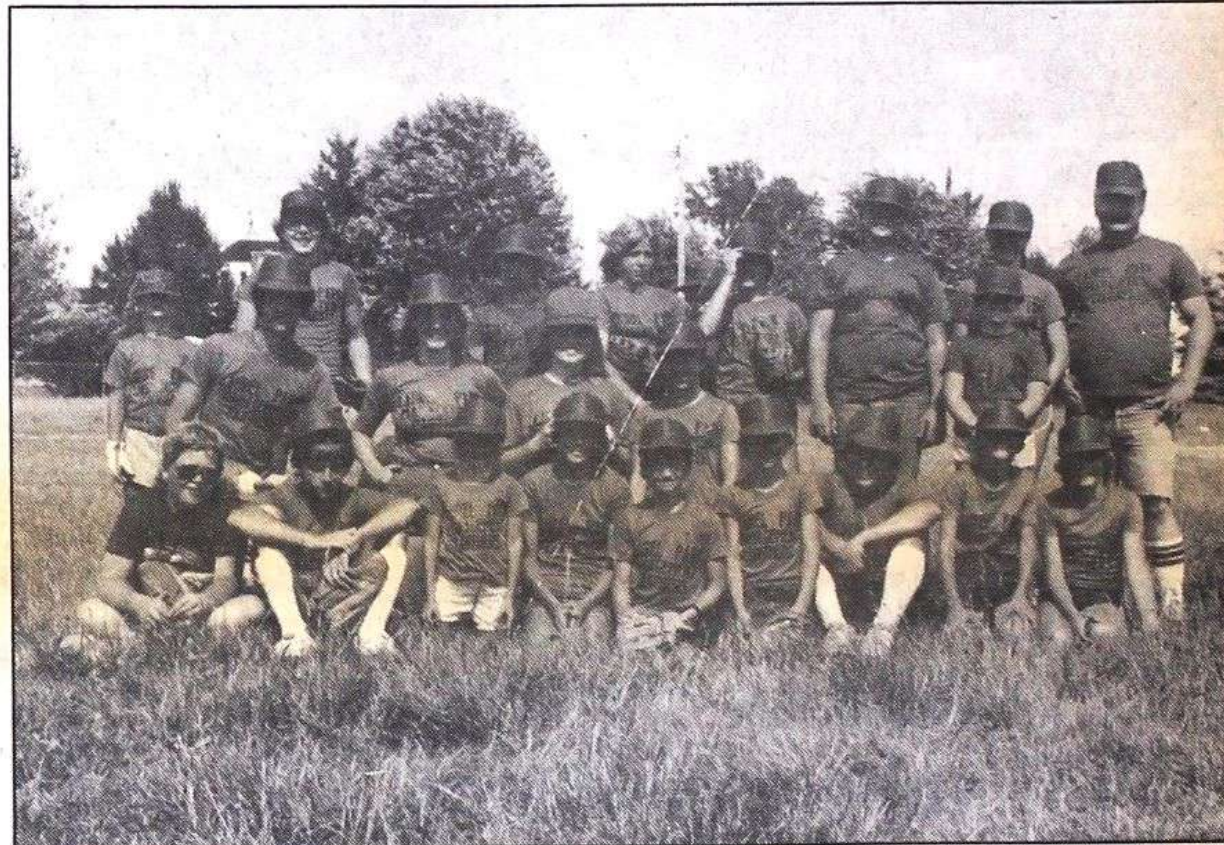

Ken Brother accounted for three RBIs with a single and triple and John Bullard had a pair of singles and RBIs, while Jeff Pazzuti singled and doubled for the winners.

Mike Morgan drove in three runs with a homer and single and Tim Goilfoyle also latched on to a roundtripper and single for the losers.

Future champs

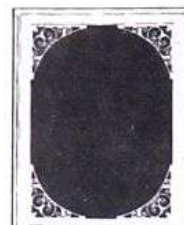

Although they had to get over some obstacles to field their first team, Westland's Point West Apartment's ball players filled their weekends with a lot of softball thanks to Kathy Haroutunian who organized and sponsored the team. She got Bob Houser to manage the club which went on to an excellent season. Members of the team are: Jason Deuby (from left to right), Sonny Spencer, Gary Stout, Pam Fullwood, Eddie Long, Scott Zeller, Matt Dirrett, Michele Draper, Coach Gary Stout, Coach Tim Deuby, Jamie Jaynes, David Miller, Christine Ling, Kelly Howitt, Chip Gibson, Tony McDonald, Bob Mabel, Tony McDonald, Chris Dau and Janice Huick.

Taylor A.C. wins crown

Boasting a 13-1 over-all record, Taylor A.C. Lounge captured the Romulus Parks and Recreation's Men's Friday "A" Division softball championship.

The champs then went on to turn back J.T. Auto Repair in the playoffs to pick up their second title. Radiology Associated finished second in the league.

In the meantime, the Sunday's men's Softball League was dominated by N.A.P.A., which finished the 1983 campaign with an impressive 12-1 record.

N.A.P.A. jolted the Other End Lounge in the playoffs to also win the playoff championship.

Romulus Eagles

Although they have only five starters held over from last year's 5-4 squad, the Romulus Eagles look to be better in 1983. Sophomore Coach Norbert Glover sees his offensive line as the key to success.

"Offensively I feel that we are going to be an over-all better team," Glover said. "We will be fielding one of our better offensive lines. The kids are quick and very smart."

The line will feature center John Sandeford, right guard Bart DeVita, left guard John Montrow, tackles Jimmie Whitehill and Scotty McNette and the ends are Kenny Johnson and tight end Shaw Perkins.

To make it all come together, Glover has a veteran quarterback Terry Roache who is a 6-4, 210-pound who, although he's in his second year of varsity competition, is Big 10 material.

"With this kind of talent in line," Glover stresses, "there are things we can definitely do that we couldn't in 1982. And one of the things we've been trying is to run from the Pro Set instead of the Power I."

The Eagles' defensive line-up include a pair of experienced linebackers in John Sandeford (5-10, 180) and John Montroy (6-0, 180) who are newcomers to the local scene but handle themselves as experienced gridgers.

"We have a lot of work cut out for us," said Glover, "but I believe we do have the potential to play with anyone. These kids have a lot of spirit."

Romulus also will be shooting for a league title in 1983, something they haven't done for over a decade. The Eagles have joined with Oak Park, Taylor Truman, Taylor Center to form the Metro Conference and Glover sees the league "as something to work toward."

"This gives the boys something to shoot for and I see this league as a very competitive one," Glover said.

Belleville Tigers

Michael Colletta is no dreamer. If anything, he's a realist.

"The Sub 8 was a tough league," the Belleville coach points out. "The new league is going to be even tougher."

Belleville enters a new era this week as the Tigers align themselves with the likes of Fordson, Monroe, Wayne Memorial in a new conference called the 'Wolverine A'. And the Tiger coach is the first to admit "that we are a bit over our heads right now."

"We're in a rebuilding stage and when you think that teams like Fordson and Monroe field state playoff caliber teams and that Wayne Memorial and Trenton are equally tough, well . . . let's be realistic about all of this."

"What our goal is right now is to get respectability in the league," Colletta said.

Colletta and the Tigers left a 3-6 won-lost record in the wake of the 1982 campaign, and as he enters his fifth year as Belleville's coach he has nine lettermen returning — some of them are "blue chippers".

Leonard Armstrong, a 5-10, 185-pound senior tailback will be the mainstay of the offense. Last year he rushed for 800 yards and he also tallied 234 yards in one game last year.

"Obviously he (Armstrong) will have to have another superb year if we are to be competitive," Colletta noted.

The Tigers have already sustained a setback as starting quarterback Bob Courter probably won't be available for Friday night's opener at Westland John Glenn. Courter injured his ankle and Colletta figures Courter will be nursing that injury for the next 10 days.

In Courter's place, junior Bob Spicker is warming up for the assignment. Although Spicker didn't letter, he does have some solid credentials and ability.

"He throws well and runs the option as good as any," Colletta pointed out. "However, he isn't tested as yet."

Fullback Steve Turrentine is expected to give the Tigers some versatility in the offensive backfield. The 5-8, 170-pound lettered on defense as a back but proved during the practice and scrimmages he can handle the fullback slot with authority.

Another holdover from a year ago is Jim Budd, who is a 5-10 offensive guard with a lot of potential. The rest of the line was wiped out due to graduation.

Colletta and his staff are rebuilding that line with: Ken Krug (6-1, 180) tackle; Paul Hermann (5-9, 155) center; Ron Small, 5-8, 180 who can play either guard or center; Chris Krebs, a 5-10, 165-pound guard and Sam Drucker, a 6-4, 185-pound offensive tackle.

The Tigers moved Tyrone Bester (5-9, 165) to tight end and sophomores Dennis Montie (6-2, 185) and Mark Venus (6-3, 180) are also looking to start in that position.

Last year's leading pass receiver, Ron Schubert (5-11, 160) is also available.

On defense, Colletta has moved Turrentine from back to linebacker and Krug will be right behind him. Hermann and Chris Krebs also will back up the line. The Tigers however will miss Martin Donaldson and Pete McWilliams who have graduated.

Look for Colletta to break away from the I-Formation his Tigers have used in the past and go to the Option more often because of the changes in personnel.

And what does the Tiger coach see for Friday night?

"Glenn is well coached and they have an outstanding football program. People are telling me that Glenn is down. Well that means instead of going 9-0 or 8-1 this year they probably will be 7-2."

Glenn Rockets

November 5 . . . the clock on the Kionka Field scoreboard was ticking off the final seconds of the 1982 season for the Rockets of Westland John Glenn when the partisan crowd rose as one and applauded the Rockets lustily.

This group of 45 young men, particularly the 23 seniors who were about to complete their careers in the red, white, and blue Rockets, had given its fans many things to cheer about during the previous three years at Glenn.

And, in return, these young men were being treated to the same enthusiasm that had saluted eighteen other

Rocket teams in the past.

No other season, the 20th in Glenn's storied football history, is about to begin and already the 1983 version of the Rockets is stirring up memories of some of the great Rocket football teams of the past.

Coach Chuck Gordon, beginning his seventh year as the Rocket mentor, and his staff have done a lot of work already in preparation for the new season and look forward with hope.

"Going into the season, we're inexperienced so the key is how quickly we mature. The players have a great attitude, and with that, we can make things happen."

Rockets have their work cut out for them, facing a tough schedule beginning this Friday night at home against Belleville at 7:30 p.m. Then it is onto Northville on Sept. 16 before the league season begins in earnest at the Pontiac Silverdome on September 24 against Redford Union. The trip to the Silverdome will be the third in two years for the Rockets. In 1982, Glenn was 2-0 at the Dome.

Garden City follows on September 30 and Thurston visits Kionka Field for Glenn's Homecoming (October 7). The Rockets travel to North Farmington on October 15 and conclude the league season at home against Livonia Franklin on October 21.

Coach Gordon sees "North Farmington as being extremely tough in the Northwest Suburban League as will Redford Union who returns nearly every starter. Livonia Franklin, as defending champions, can't be written off with everyone having a shot at the title."

The Rockets conclude their season at home against non-league rival Highland Park and at Wayne Memorial.

For the first time since Chuck Gordon has been head coach, the Rocket offense will be directed by a returning quarterback. Jeff Hawley (6-0, 142) came off a successful season as a junior in 1982 leading the Rockets to a 7-2 record by throwing for 611 yards and 7 touchdowns. Hawley, who is six TD passes short of a school record, started nine games last year and that is a plus for us," said Gordon. "He had a great preseason."

Doug Corbeil (5-10, 158) will be the back-up quarterback as well as start in the defensive secondary for the Rockets. The third quarterback will be junior Cass Simpson (5-10, 153).

Last season, Gordon had two outstanding backs in the backfield in Todd Jennings and Don Forchione. Jennings rushed for a school record 1071 yard and Forchione provided the bulk of the blocking for his running mate. This year, the Rockets boast two more fine runners from their stable of sprinters in seniors Craig Thornton and Tom Forchione.

Wayne Zebras

There are many unknowns that Coach Floyd Carter and Wayne Memorial's Zebras will face when they launch the inaugural "Wolverine A" Conference.

But one thing for sure, they will know there will be "no easy ones".

"I know that the old league (Great Lakes 8 Conference) was tough with Fordson, Monroe, Lincoln Park," said Carter who enters his 12th campaign Friday night at Garden City. "But now you also have to contend with Trenton and Belleville. These are tough clubs and well coached. It isn't going to be easy."

Carter said he was "pleased" with his team thus far. The Zebras were locked in a four-way scrimmage against Divine Child, Bloomfield Lahser and Northville and came out of the battles with their heads high.

Eight returning lettermen give the Zebras a shot at the top of the Wolverine A standings. Mike Besco, a 5-11, 185-pound senior is back at guard; Joe Czarniowski will return at center. He's 6-0, 188-pounds and Doug Mac, a 6-0, 220-pound tackle, will make the opposition sweat.

Then there's Mike Quartuccio, who's returning at quarterback. This 6-4, 190-pound athlete is considered the best signal-caller that Carter has ever coached.

"He's intelligent, has everything to make an exceptional quarterback," Carter says. "I feel he is one of the best I've ever coached."

There are other excellent reasons why Carter is looking forward to the tougher competition in the new conference. Returning to help the Zebras are 6-6, 210-pound junior Pollis Robertson, at tight end; Todd Shreve, a rugged 5-11, 185-pound senior who has nailed down the middle guard slot; Victor Wilkins, a 6-0, 187-pound guard, and Donnie Lynn, a 5-11, 170-pound senior wide receiver.

With this kind of material, Carter believes his team will "put the ball up in the air a little more — (believe me, a lot more) than his previous teams. And that's because Quartuccio has two of the finest receivers in the area, if not the state.

Oh, we also almost forgot Marvin Parnell because it's football and not track season. Parnell, an outstanding hurdler who transferred from Taylor Center, will be in the Zebra line-up and his fine speed makes him a sure bet he, too, will be on the end of some of the QB's aeriels.

In the offensive backfield, Carter is looking at tailback Bob Matheney, who will alternate with junior Matt Mason. Carter also is looking at Juan Hearn, a sophomore, and Bob MacCarthur at the fullback slot.

"Offensively, our strength is in our line and our quarterback," admits Carter which could be the understatement of the year.

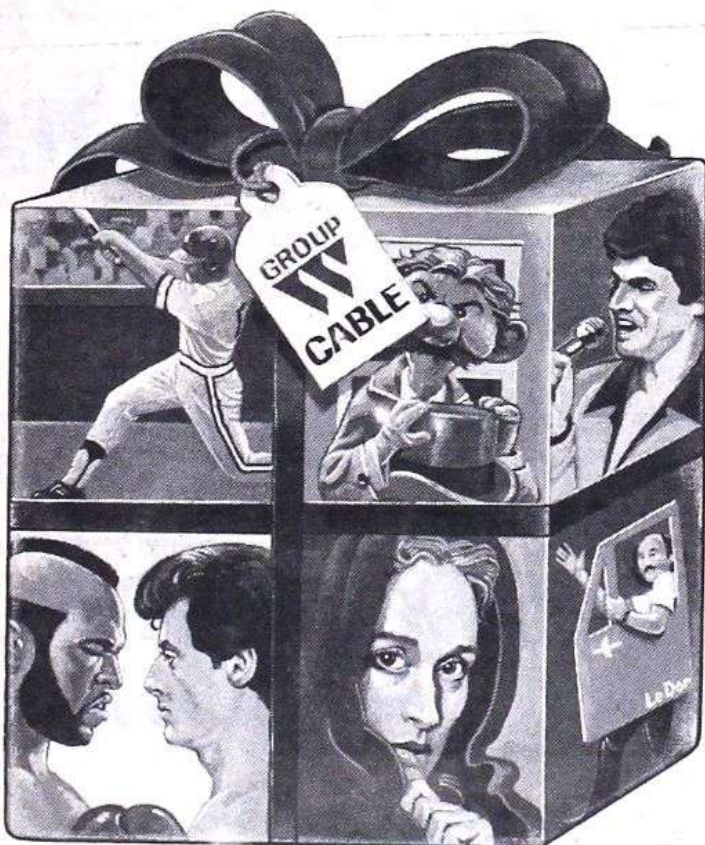

But don't look for Wayne to field one of their traditionally solid defenses. It was demolished by graduation.

"We're very untested on defense in the secondary as well as up front," said Carter. "With the exception of Robertson, we lost everyone to graduation."

Here's how the Zebras look on the drawing boards: Middle guard (and one of the better ones in the area) will be Shreve; tackles are Mac and Victor Wilkins; linebackers are Mike Korzetke (6-3, 196) while Hearn and Mason will fight it out for one of the other LB jobs and John Mayon, who checks in at 6-0, 175-pounds, also has the inside track on a defensive secondary post.

Other promising candidates are Larry Kaitschuck, a linebacker who will be used as a defensive tackle. He checks in at 6-1, 205 pounds while John Cota (5-8, 150), Matt Edwards (6-2, 175), and Matheney are in the secondary. Down tackle Art Ochoa (6-1, 200) will be seeing some action.

Inkster Vikings

"This team has good attitude, but it's very inexperienced."

That's how Inkster High head football coach Arnice James assessed his 1983 Vikings who were riddled by graduation and left with three starters and six lettermen.

"We have a very small team - no one weighs more than 200 pounds," Coach James continued, "so we have to depend on our quickness to survive. And, right now, I see too many areas we need to improve upon."

James has until Friday to iron out the kinks in preparation for the opener scheduled at Algonac. Kickoff is 4 p.m.

Coming off of a 3-6 over-all record, the Vikings have a fifth league team to contend with this season. Willow Run has joined the ranks of the Suburban Athletic Conference. The Flyers were an independent since the dissolution of the Twin Valley Conference some 10 years ago.

But it isn't Willow Run that concerns the veteran Viking mentor. There are Highland Park, Dearborn Heights Robichaud and a much improved Ecorse on his mind.

"I don't think Bob Yauck (Robichaud) lost any of his players of a year ago," James says, "and Highland Park, because of its size (it's a class A school) always will be in there, so that puts us in the middle, if we're lucky, of the standings."

Highland Park, Robichaud and Ecorse shared the 1982 SAC Championship.

The nucleus of the Inkster grid team will include: Darryl Groce, a 5-8, 165-pound senior cornerback; Bernard Robinson, a 5-8, 175-pound senior running back and in the secondary, and William Childress, a senior guard who tips the scales at 190. Marc King comes closest to the 200-marker. He's a 6-1, 197 pound tackle.

The Vikings also have Willie McCall (5-10, 180) at center; David Law, (5-9, 170) at linebacker-running back; William Springer, (6-6, 150) junior flanker and Leon Hall, destined to be great, according to the coach, because of his outstanding athletic abilities. Hall is a 5-10, 176-pound defensive safety who doubles as a split end on offense.

"If we don't capitalize on our quickness and speed we're going to have a rough time of it," assures Coach James. "Most of the teams in our league have a lot of players held over from last year. We're going to put up inexperience up against experience."

And that could be fatal, coach.

Robichaud Bulldogs

Bob Yauck has waited for a long time for his "dream team" and 1983 may produce just that for the Robichaud High football coach.

In his 15th season as the Bulldog grid coach, Yauck has come close to getting into the Class B state playoffs, but a couple of percentage points kept him and the Bulldogs from that coveted dream.

"We have eight returning starters from last year's team," Yauck says, "and it is probably one of the most experienced group of juniors and seniors I have coached."

Robichaud's prime weapon is Mark Medlock, a third year starter at quarterback who Yauck considers as his first legitimate all-state quarterback. Medlock possesses a strong arm that can rifle the ball with pinpoint accuracy and distance.

"Mark went to the Michigan summer football camp," Yauck says, "and the information that came back to me is that he commanded a lot of respect."

But one man does not make a team, coach.

That's why there are ample reserves, laden with talent. The entire offensive backfield returns intact. The Brazill brothers — Will and Gerald — will have a lot to say about where the Bulldogs will wind up in the Suburban Athletic Conference standings and in post season playoffs.

Will is a 5-11, 180 slotback who is in his third varsity campaign, while Gerald is a returning tailback who stands 5-11 and is 175-pounds. Also returning in what could be the most explosive backfield in Robichaud's history is Mike Bowden, a 5-9, 175-pound senior.

Is it no wonder that the coaches pick Robichaud to snatch the other two-thirds of the title away from defending tri-champs Highland Park and Ecorse?

Eltuan Faqua, considered the fastest player on the team, will serve as a back-up running back, while Jarvis Walker, a gifted all-around athlete will be utilized as a back-up quarterback. "We will have to make room for him on the roster," Yauck says.

The line is led by three-year all-SAC performer Paul Green, a 5-11, 240-pound tackle. Green's all-state material. Other notables are: Tom Staroscask, a 5-10, 205, all-league guard; Jeff Price, a 6-1, 225-pound junior Center and "the best one-on-one blocker on the team."

The roster continues with Troy Taylor, a 6-1, 195-pound tackle; tight end Joe Fears (6-4, 220) at split end. There are two outstanding returning lettermen in Dennis MacIntosh (6-3, 170), whose brother was named to the all-state team a year ago. The other end is Maurice Smith (6-2, 170).

Jerry Smith, a guard brought up from the reserves a year ago and Raymond Carreathers, a 6-1, 170-pound junior cornerback, will play key roles in the Bulldogs' bid for statewide recognition.

But first they must get past Oak Park, a team that can become an opening day thorn.

Robichaud will host the 2 p.m. opener on Saturday at the Dearborn Heights High School's field.

Dave Kevnick can become the "toast of the Spartans".

The 6-1, 180-pound Cherry Hill senior is developing into one of the best quarterbacks in the school's history and, if all goes well, may lead Coach Jerry Pawloski's Spartans out of their doldrums.

Cherry Hill wound up with a 3-6 record a year ago after a bunch of injuries piled up on them.

"We're very inexperienced," said Pawloski who is about to enter his seventh year as the Spartans' head coach. "But I am sincerely looking for an improvement from last year. We have the potential to win more games."

Kevnick is the key. He will come out of the cold to the heat of the pressure of the job, and if he produces the Spartans could become serious title contenders, a role they haven't played in recent times.

Kevnick will have in the backfield with him senior co-captain Todd Cabanaw, a strong 6-1, 204 fullback who will double as a linebacker. Cabanaw is tough and can be counted on for blocking as well as picking up the short yardage.

Other notable names on this year's Spartan roster include: Tom Blaylock, a 5-7, 139-pound guard who is slated to play linebacker on defense; Al Hall, a 6-1, 207-pound senior center who rounds out the returning starters.

Pawloski has some outstanding prospects in Dion Gipson, a sophomore who checks in a 6-0, 213 pounds; and the Spartans also boast a sophomore tackle in Lowe Manev, who weighs in at 277 and stands 6-3. Watch ballcarriers head the other way when Manev comes at them.

Also look for Mike Merriman, a 5-11, 182 tailback, Rob Bryer, a 5-7, 128-pound defensive back and Ryan Jackson, a 6-1, 184 wingback to contribute to the success of the Spartans this season.

Last year Cherry Hill got off to a good start by beating New Boston Huron in their opener. Huron is again rebuilding and the Spartans may find the Chiefs ripe for picking.

But, beware, Huron covets a winning season. And Coach Jim Hinojosa is getting impatient.

Kickoff is 1:30 p.m. on Saturday at Cherry Hill.

Livonia Churchill Chargers

After a dreary 1-8 season, Coach Ken Kaestner and Livonia Churchill's Chargers hope to bounce back.

And if they do, 29 players will have to put in overtime on defense as well as offense.

"I'm not going to make any predictions on how we'll make out," said Kaestner who is entering his 26th season, 16 as head coach at Livonia Churchill.

"But I am optimistic that we will be a much improved club," Kaestner continued. "If I didn't believe so, I don't think I'd be here."

Kaestner does see, however, Farmington Harrison, with the personnel that is "a head and shoulder" over the rest in the Western Lakes. Harrison, after capturing the Class B state title two years ago, came right back last year to claim the Class A state gem, beating a highly-touted Dearborn Fordson for the glory. They have a 23-game winning streak.

Although there are 26 players battling for starting assignments at Churchill, one name that stands out is Dave Mize. His 246-pounds, 6-1 frame demands respect and gets it. Mize returns as an offensive tackle and he'll see double duty as a defensive end.

"He's a good one," Kaestner says. "We're expecting a lot from him."

Others who must come through in order for the Charger coach to realize his ambitions are center Steve Brooks, a 5-11, 179-pound junior; running backs Ron Tracy and Bob Foust, both seniors who are considered fine all-around players.

To run the offense, Kaestner & Company are looking to John Fraser, a senior who has a handle on the job. As backup, there is junior John Stoitsiadis.

"We got a lot of things we have to work on," Kaestner admits, "but that's what football is all about. I love it and I'll keep doing it as long as I do."

Churchill heads for cross-town Livonia Franklin's gridiron on Saturday to bring the curtains up for the 1983 season.

The Patriots have always been tough on their city rivals.

And this year it doesn't look like there'll be any exceptions.

Canton Chiefs

In any other league, Richard Barr and his Plymouth Canton Chiefs probably would be viable title contenders.

However, Barr and his gridders aligned themselves last year in the Western Lakes where Farmington Harrison, defending Class A (and one-time Class B) state champs, roams and dominates, the terrain.

And with a 4-5 record of a year ago, the Chiefs even are considering an improvement . . . a slight one, though, in their over-all won-lost record.

Anyone who has followed Canton football's (mis) fortunes know that the Chiefs have had a rough and hard luck time finding victories until a year ago.

Now they have the caliber of players who demand respect, despite the presence of "older brother", Plymouth Salem, a terror on the gridiron.

With nearly 100 players showing up for junior and varsity tryouts, the Chiefs appear to have solved some of their problems. In numbers, as we all know, quality may be, but not always, can be found.

"We'll be a competitive team," Barr says, which translates into "we'll be tough, believe me." And there are plenty of reasons why. Here are some.

Barr has five kids who started last year, at one time or another. They are: Rodney Williams, a senior fullback; Jim Burczyk, a senior tailback, Dave Szary, another senior, at slotback, Norm Gregor, who is being shifted from playing guard and tackle last season to center, and Paul Fletcher, offensive tackle. The trio of running backs played mostly on second-team offense, but played first-team defense positions.

Because the team's rebuilding, the starting positions aren't final yet, but these are the ones who have the best shots, according to Barr:

Offensive tackles will be Fletcher, who Barr says is probably one of their better players, and their biggest, at 6'3" and 225; and Eric Wines. Both played in 1982.

Offensive guards will likely be Doug Chilcoff at 5'9" and 180 pounds; and Wain Young, 5'8" and 165, but quick. They also saw some action last year.

Quarterback will be Jody Spitz, last year's varsity backup. He's a senior and Barr says he's a real good option QB with adequate passing skills.

Tight end will likely be Jim Kaske, who played in 1982 and will also handle the kicking chores.

Split end is David Knapp, who played as JV quarterback in 1982 and will be third string QB on varsity. Barr said Knapp has good hands.

The running backs will probably include the trio of Williams, Szary and Burczyk. They will be backed up by Rodney Boyd, with 10 TDs on JV last year, who looks to be used much this year; and Matt Flower, probably one of the fastest backs. Barr says that Williams Szary and Burczyk provide power, Boyd and Flower have speed.

Backup QB will be Tony Aiken, who throws and hands off well, according to Barr, and has much potential also.

Defensive tackle will be Fletcher, on of a few will play both sides of the line.

Ends will be Williams, 6'1" and 180 and Young.

Outside linebackers are probably Burczyk, the only one with secondary experience last year, and Kaske.

Inside linebacker will be Szary, who played in last year.

Safety will be handled by either Spitz or Knapp.

Defensive backs will probably be Ray Hyder and Aiken, who is a sophomore.

Barr says the team lacks size and will have to try to beat some teams using finesse. They'll also have to rely on quickness and toughness. The defense, for example, will use the 6-5 formation mostly and throw in stunting and different looks to confuse the opponents' offense. At times, the defense will look like a six or five-man-front, with a 6-2 or 5-2 alignment.

Offensively, they will strive for ball control, using one-third passing to two-third running.

"We don't try to go long much, but we go for the high-percentage (short-passes)," he said. "But, we will go long to keep people honest."

Knapp and Kaske will probably be the most-used receivers. Spitz will also throw to the backs coming out of the backfield.

And, the offense will try to confuse the other team as well.

"We'll use multiple formations and try to get people to where we want them, go to the weaknesses," he said.

Huron Chiefs

Third year Huron High football coach Jamie Hinojosa has been in a dogfight to keep his Chiefs from finishing last. And the former Huron star has tried everything.

But, the Chiefs just don't have the numbers to compete in a tough league that bears their name.

"When you have to face teams like Monroe Catholic Central and Flat Rock," Coach Hinojosa points out, "you have to have numbers to fill in for the injuries."

Unfortunately for Huron it again lacks the depth this season.

"We had 26 players show up for varsity," Hinojosa said, "and that means we have to keep away from injuries. We're not deep, as usual, and that hurts."

Huron will launch the 1983 campaign on Saturday at 1:30 p.m. as guests of Cherry Hill High. The Spartans won a thriller from Huron a year ago.

With five starters back from a team that won one of nine starts, the Chiefs will have to put in a lot of overtime to patch up the holes. They do have respectable players in cornerback Tony Polse, a 5-9, 160-pounder and defensive end, tailback Gary Holder who checks in at 5-10, 170.

Hinojosa also has Danny Zigler, a halfback who is 5-6, 150 pounds, and tight end Paul Straub, a 5-9, 175-pounder along with defensive cornerback Kevin Poet returning to the lineup.

A.J. Richardson, who performed superbly at quarterback, has graduated, but younger brother, Tommy, is on hand to fill his shoes.

"But Tommy has some big shoes to fill," Hinojosa says.

Hinojosa has converted offensive guard Len Syden (6-0, 180) into a blocking fullback. And the move is working. The Chiefs also have Clay Rose (6-0, 195) and Bobby Nelson (5-10, 185) at guards; tackles Al Livermore (6-2, 185) and Dave Kuzcharzk (5-10, 205) while Paul Straub has nailed down the tight end and Poet will be the split end.

"We're shooting for a .500 season," notes Hinojosa, "and I believe if we can stay away from injuries we will win more than we lose."

But, it looks like it will be a long year again for the Chiefs.

Livonia Franklin Patriots

There are always glowing words and sentences of praise when someone discusses Livonia Franklin's football program and Coach Armand Vigna.

No one ever underestimates the Pats or their coach who guided his team to the inaugural Class A state title and three Northwest Suburban Conference crowns over the period of the past nine years.

After the way the Livonians came out and handled the then playoff-bound Westland John Glenn last year, and the way they have treated most of their area rivals, this may be the year that what Vigna has sown, he will begin to reap.

"We're green," emphasized the Franklin coach as the dialogue opened about the 1983 campaign. "We lost nine off of defense including All-Area gridders Ted Mills (linebacker) and Chris Lewis (defensive halfback). We're going to have to pay a lot of attention to filling those holes if we are to be competitive this year."

For some, "being competitive" translates into "not being blown off the gridiron," but for Vigna, being competitive means staying in the midst of the title chase.

And, as experience has shown, Vigna and his crew have a knack of turning "green players" into "blue chipers" in the shortest span. What kind of fertilizer do they use out there?

At the throttle of Franklin's grid destiny is Rob Drabicki who inherited the quarterback's responsibilities from Rich Popp. Popp developed into one of the best passing QB's in Franklin's long history last year.

Can Drabicki get the job done?

"He's a tough competitor and we believe he can do the job for us," Vigna said. "Time will tell, won't it?"

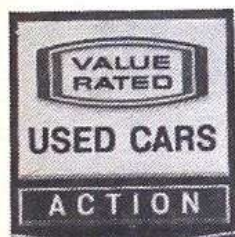

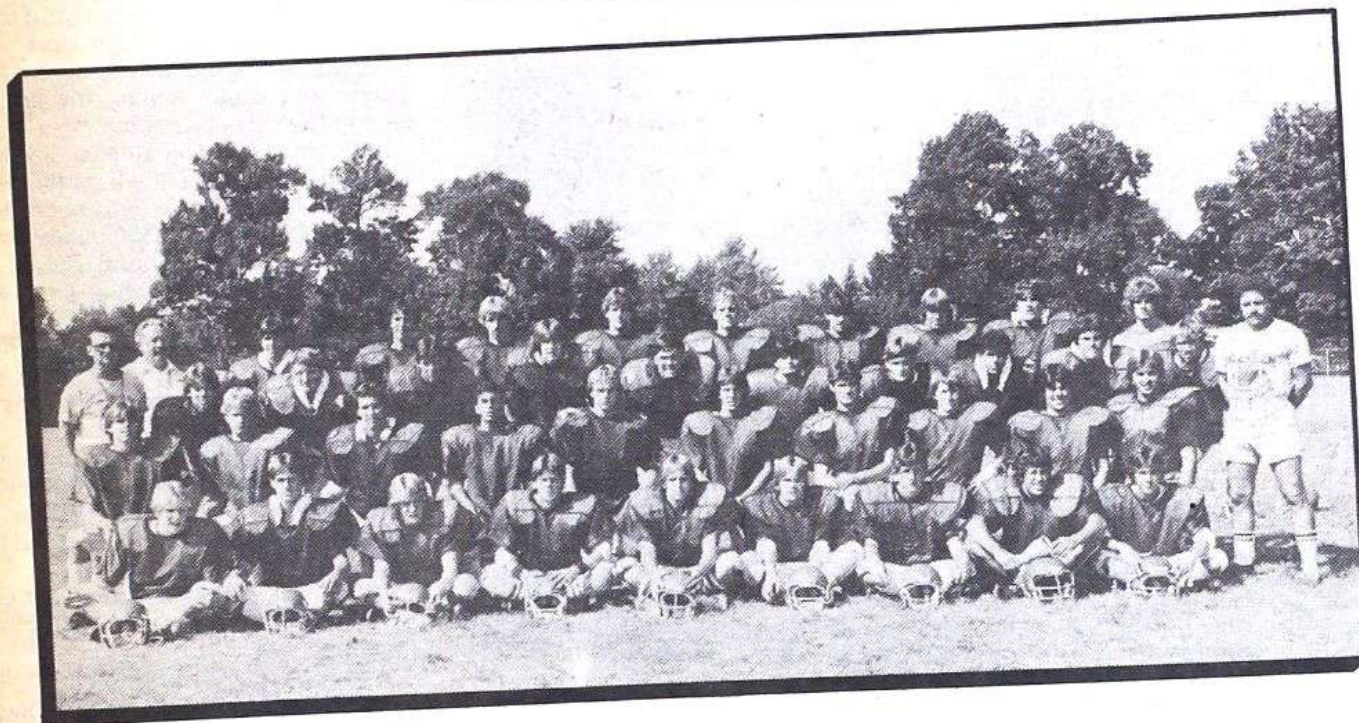

Vigna has returning to the fullback slot Randy Hurst, a 5-7, 160-pound speedster who can break loose to go all the way. The Pats are looking at Tim Walley and Brad Norrid as the runningbacks while Glenn Brandon (6-2, 185) is at one tackle while Doug Sutter (5-10, 180) looks promising at the guard slot.

Two of the 43 players seeking varsity status and well on their way of nailing down jobs are defensive tackles Doug Kroll and Walter Rabideaux.

Some 120 kids turned out to do the job on the gridiron this season and that impressed Vigna.

"It was an excellent turnout for us," said Vigna, who is entering his 26th season as a coach and nine as head coach. "Like most teams we also have a lot of catching up to do."

Vigna will see just how far behind his players and team are when he hosts his crosstown adversary, Livonia Churchill, on Saturday for the season opener.

Plymouth Salem Rocks

With only one player back from last year's near perfect team, can this be a rebuilding year for Coach Tom Moshimer at Plymouth Salem? Some people say so.

But don't count on it.

"We're very inexperienced," said Moshimer whose Rocks sledgehammered their way to an 8-1 over-all record to reach the state playoffs where they lost to league rival, Farmington Harrison.

Harrison is the defending Class A state champ.

Admittedly, Moshimer does have the task of replacing a score of outstanding youngsters, but somehow, somehow he inevitably does. The "one kid" whom the successful prep grid analyst has as a holdover is 6-1, 200-pound Chris Hymes.

Hymes, a guard a year ago, has been switched to the key offensive slot (for the Rocks) of center. But remember these names: Chris Raymond, Ken Harmon (not a difficult name to remember in football) who are running backs, then Jeff Arnold, a halfback, split receiver — you'll be seeing their names in ink this year. They have outstanding talent.

Salem has produced some of the finest quarterback talent in the state, namely, Tim Dillon and Rich Hewlitt and in their footsteps, the Rocks have Mark Tindall ready to go.

Although Moshimer isn't ready to pour out the superlatives about Tindall, he is ready however to admit that the versatile athlete "is a nice quarterback who is an excellent runner for the option and ranks among the better QBs in the school's history."

Let's go on to Craig Morton — you'll hear plenty about Tindall as the season progresses. Morton will serve the Rocks with his 6-1, 150-pounds as a wide receiver and David Bunch, a halfback, will be switched from his halfback slot to that of a guard to patch up the holes created by graduation.

Friday night Salem will clash with North Farmington to bring the season up on the 1983 season.

"We have to improve a lot of places to become contenders," Moshimer said. "There were things I saw in scrimmage that I didn't like. We're going to have to improve."

Hey, coach, if you win one more game than you won a year ago, you'll go all the way.

And some people in these parts believe you will, after all, they already believe you can walk on water.

elcome to the 1983 Old Fashioned Homecoming Festival.

Activities begin with the parade which kicks off at 7 p.m. on Thursday evening. Several Shriner units are included as well as music, marchers and many floats. The Dunk Tank opens with Ray LeCornu in "Drop A Cop" night. Dr. Tim Dyer of Wayne-Westland Schools will be in the tank on Saturday from 1 until 2 p.m. Prominent people around town will take their turns to benefit Jay Cee Park.

A Dee-Jay will be featured on Friday for the Teen Dance and a special "Elvis" impersonator on Saturday. Turtles may be purchased at Wayne City Hall.

The Graham-Paige Hoosier Picnic will take place on Sunday as well as a full day of contests and games for which no pre-registration or entry fee is required. A pie eating contest is scheduled for 4:30 on Sunday and features city department heads and council members. The "undancable Dance Band" follows including a Sing-Along and the music ends with country blue grass.

Game and food booths are hosted by service clubs and you can eat from noon until midnight. We think the carnival is the best around and we offer a free merry-go-round ride for each child. Fireworks at Attwood Park provide an exciting climax on Sunday evening and we cordially invite all of you to bring your family and friends to enjoy the festival.

Hope to see you there!
